

Seasons

Spring

“Give me a drink”

“Give me a drink”

“How is it that you, a Jew, ask for a drink from me, a woman of Samaria?”

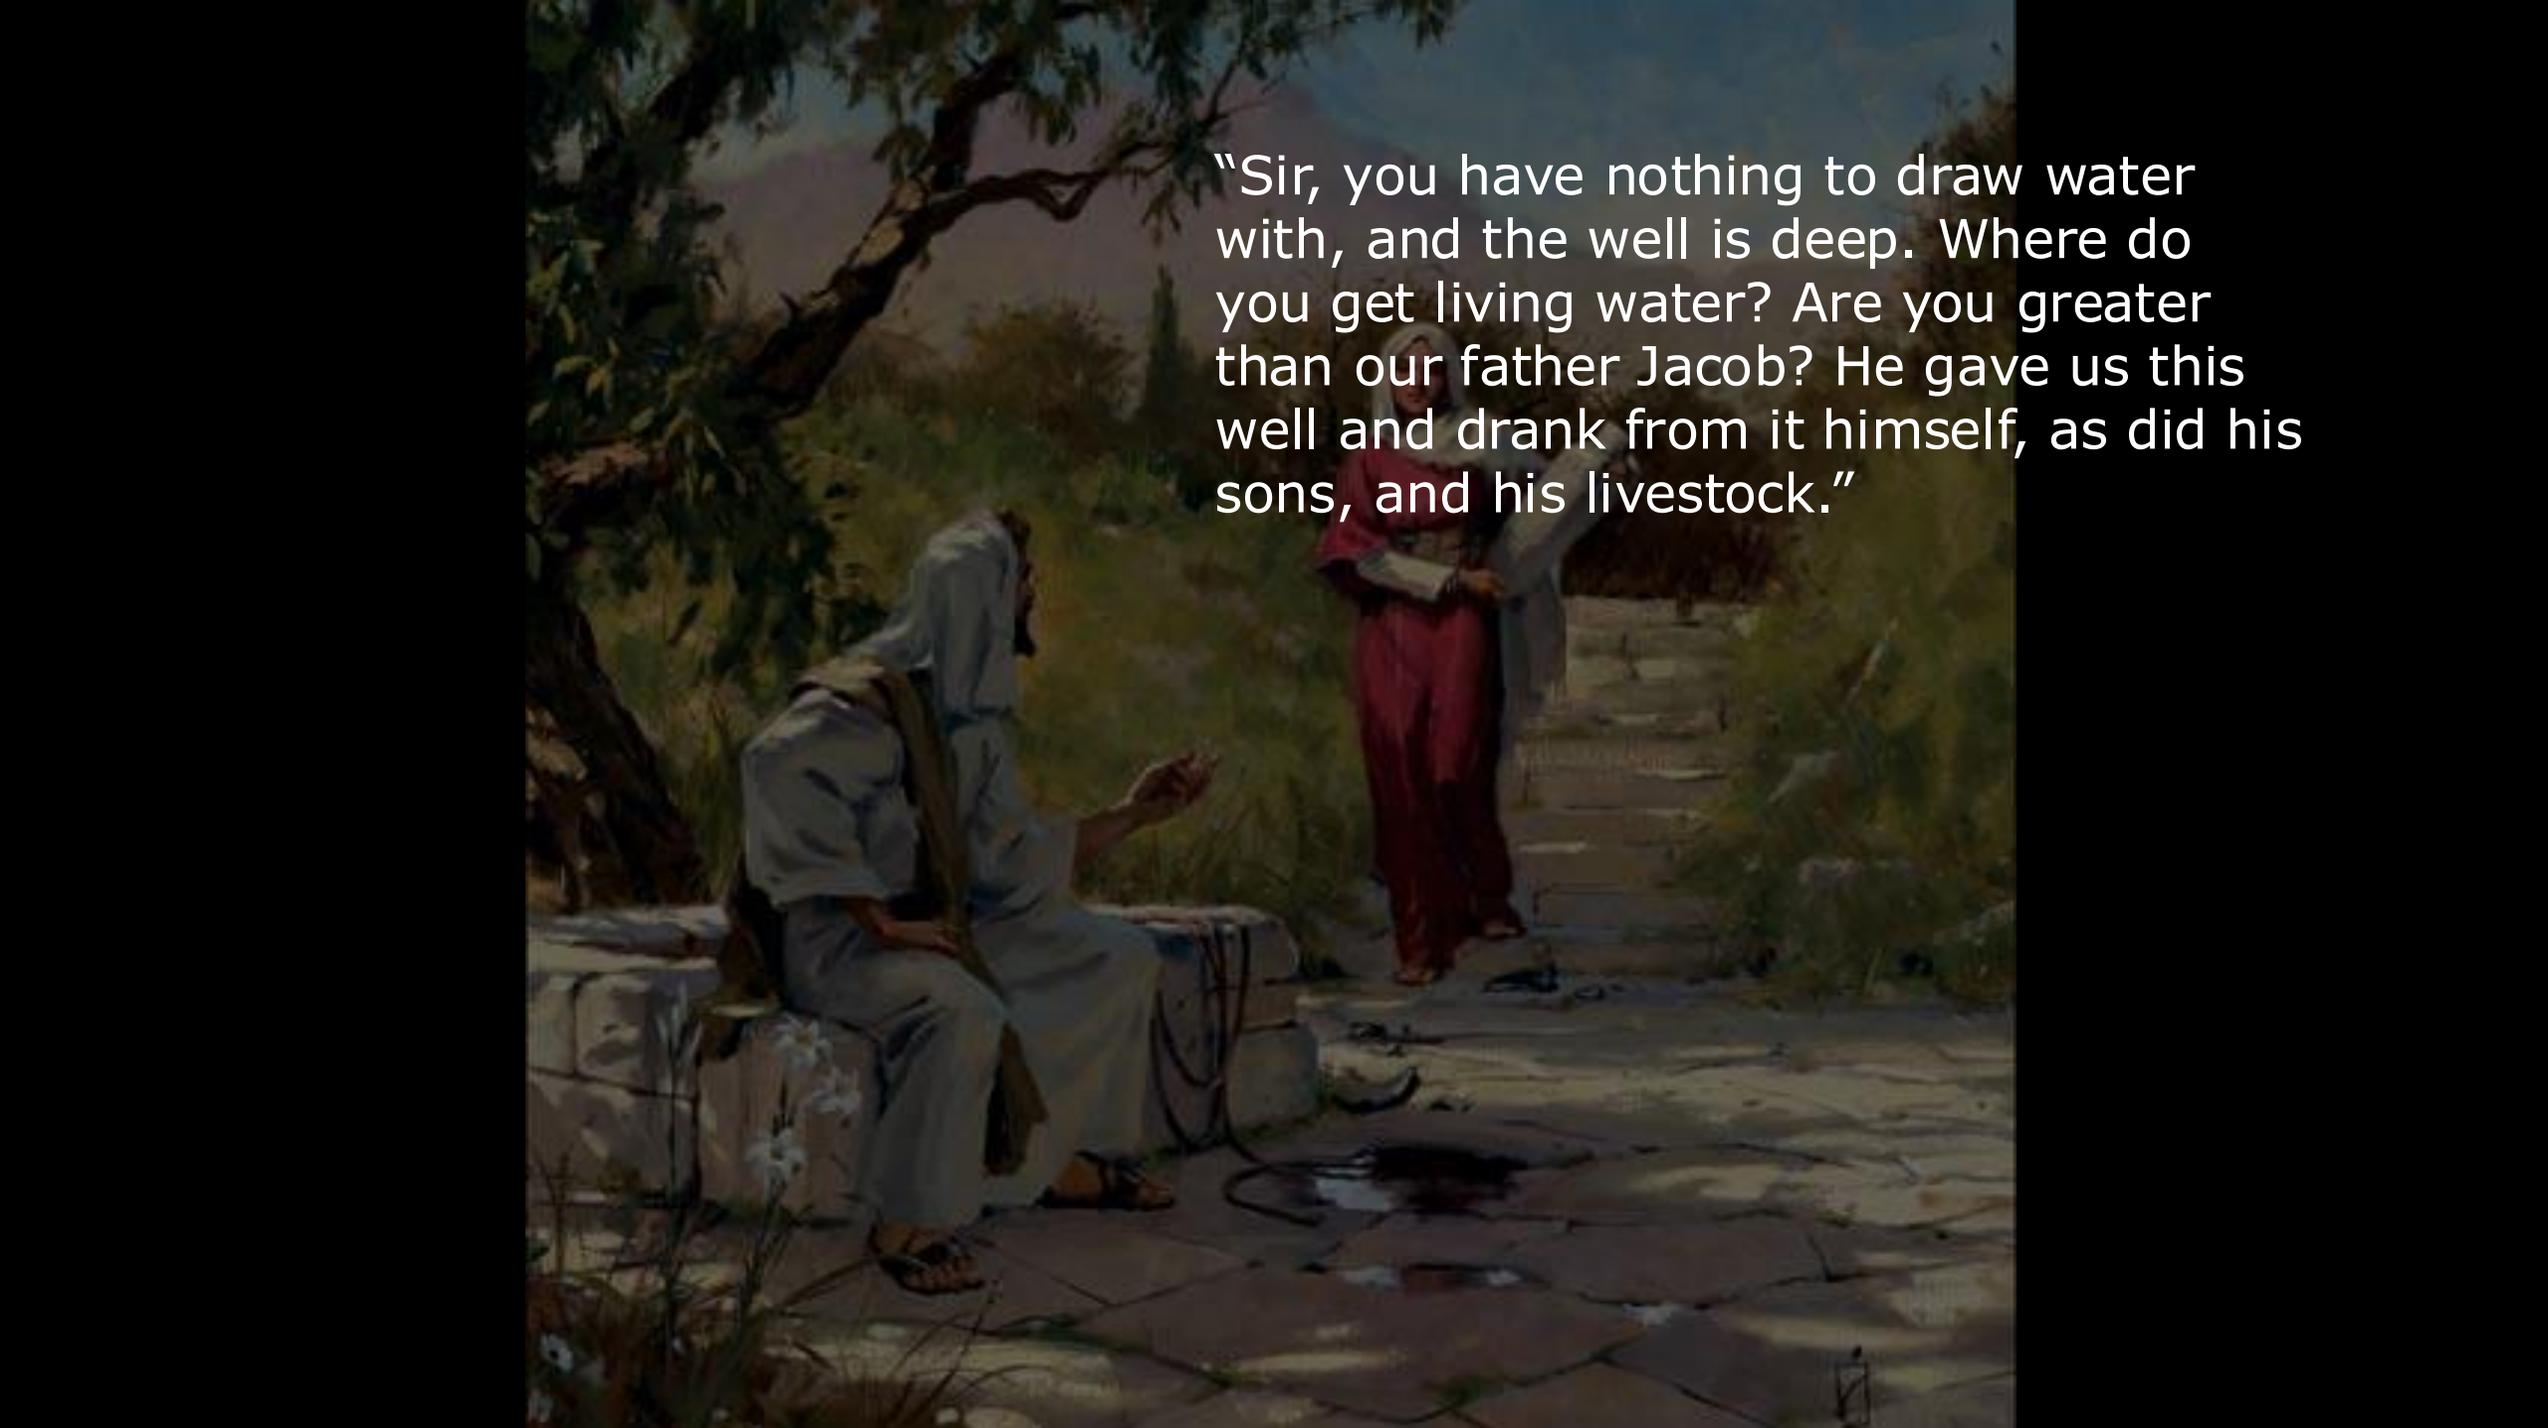

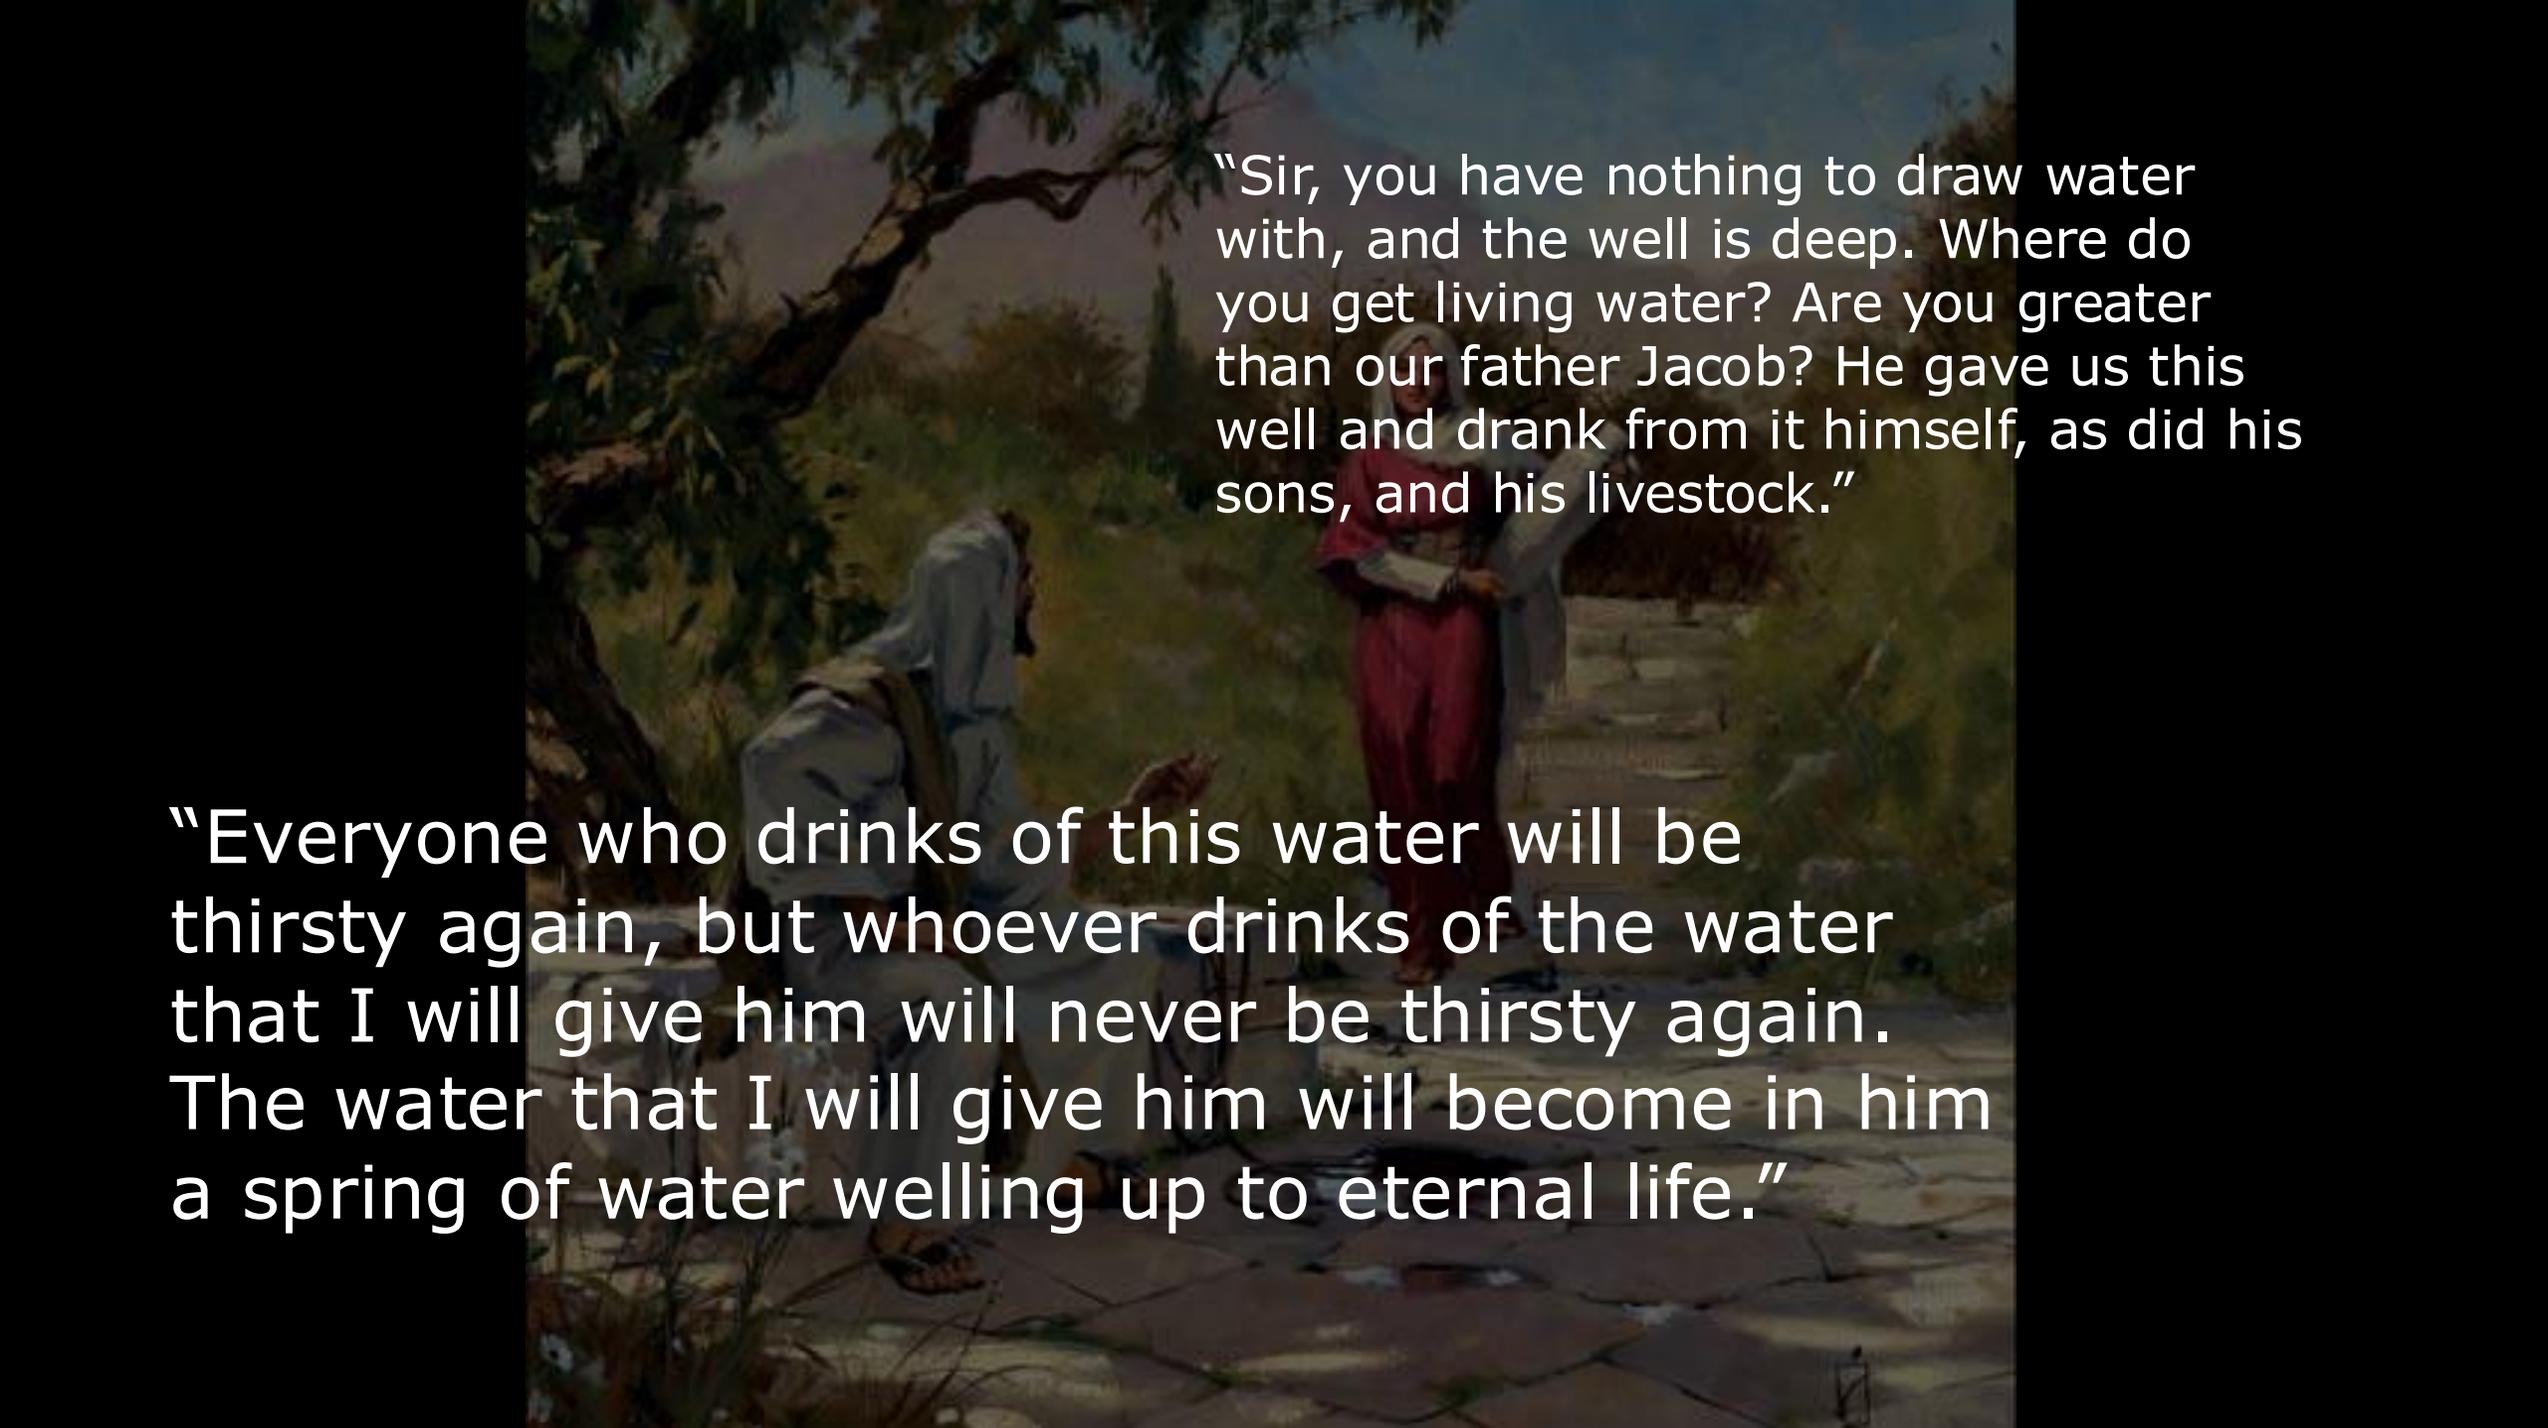

“Give me a drink”

“How is it that you, a Jew, ask for a drink from me, a woman of Samaria?”

“If you knew the gift of God, and who it is that is saying to you “Give me a drink,” you would have asked him, and he would have given you living water.”

“Sir, you have nothing to draw water with, and the well is deep. Where do you get living water? Are you greater than our father Jacob? He gave us this well and drank from it himself, as did his sons, and his livestock.”

“Sir, you have nothing to draw water with, and the well is deep. Where do you get living water? Are you greater than our father Jacob? He gave us this well and drank from it himself, as did his sons, and his livestock.”

“Everyone who drinks of this water will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks of the water that I will give him will never be thirsty again. The water that I will give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life.”

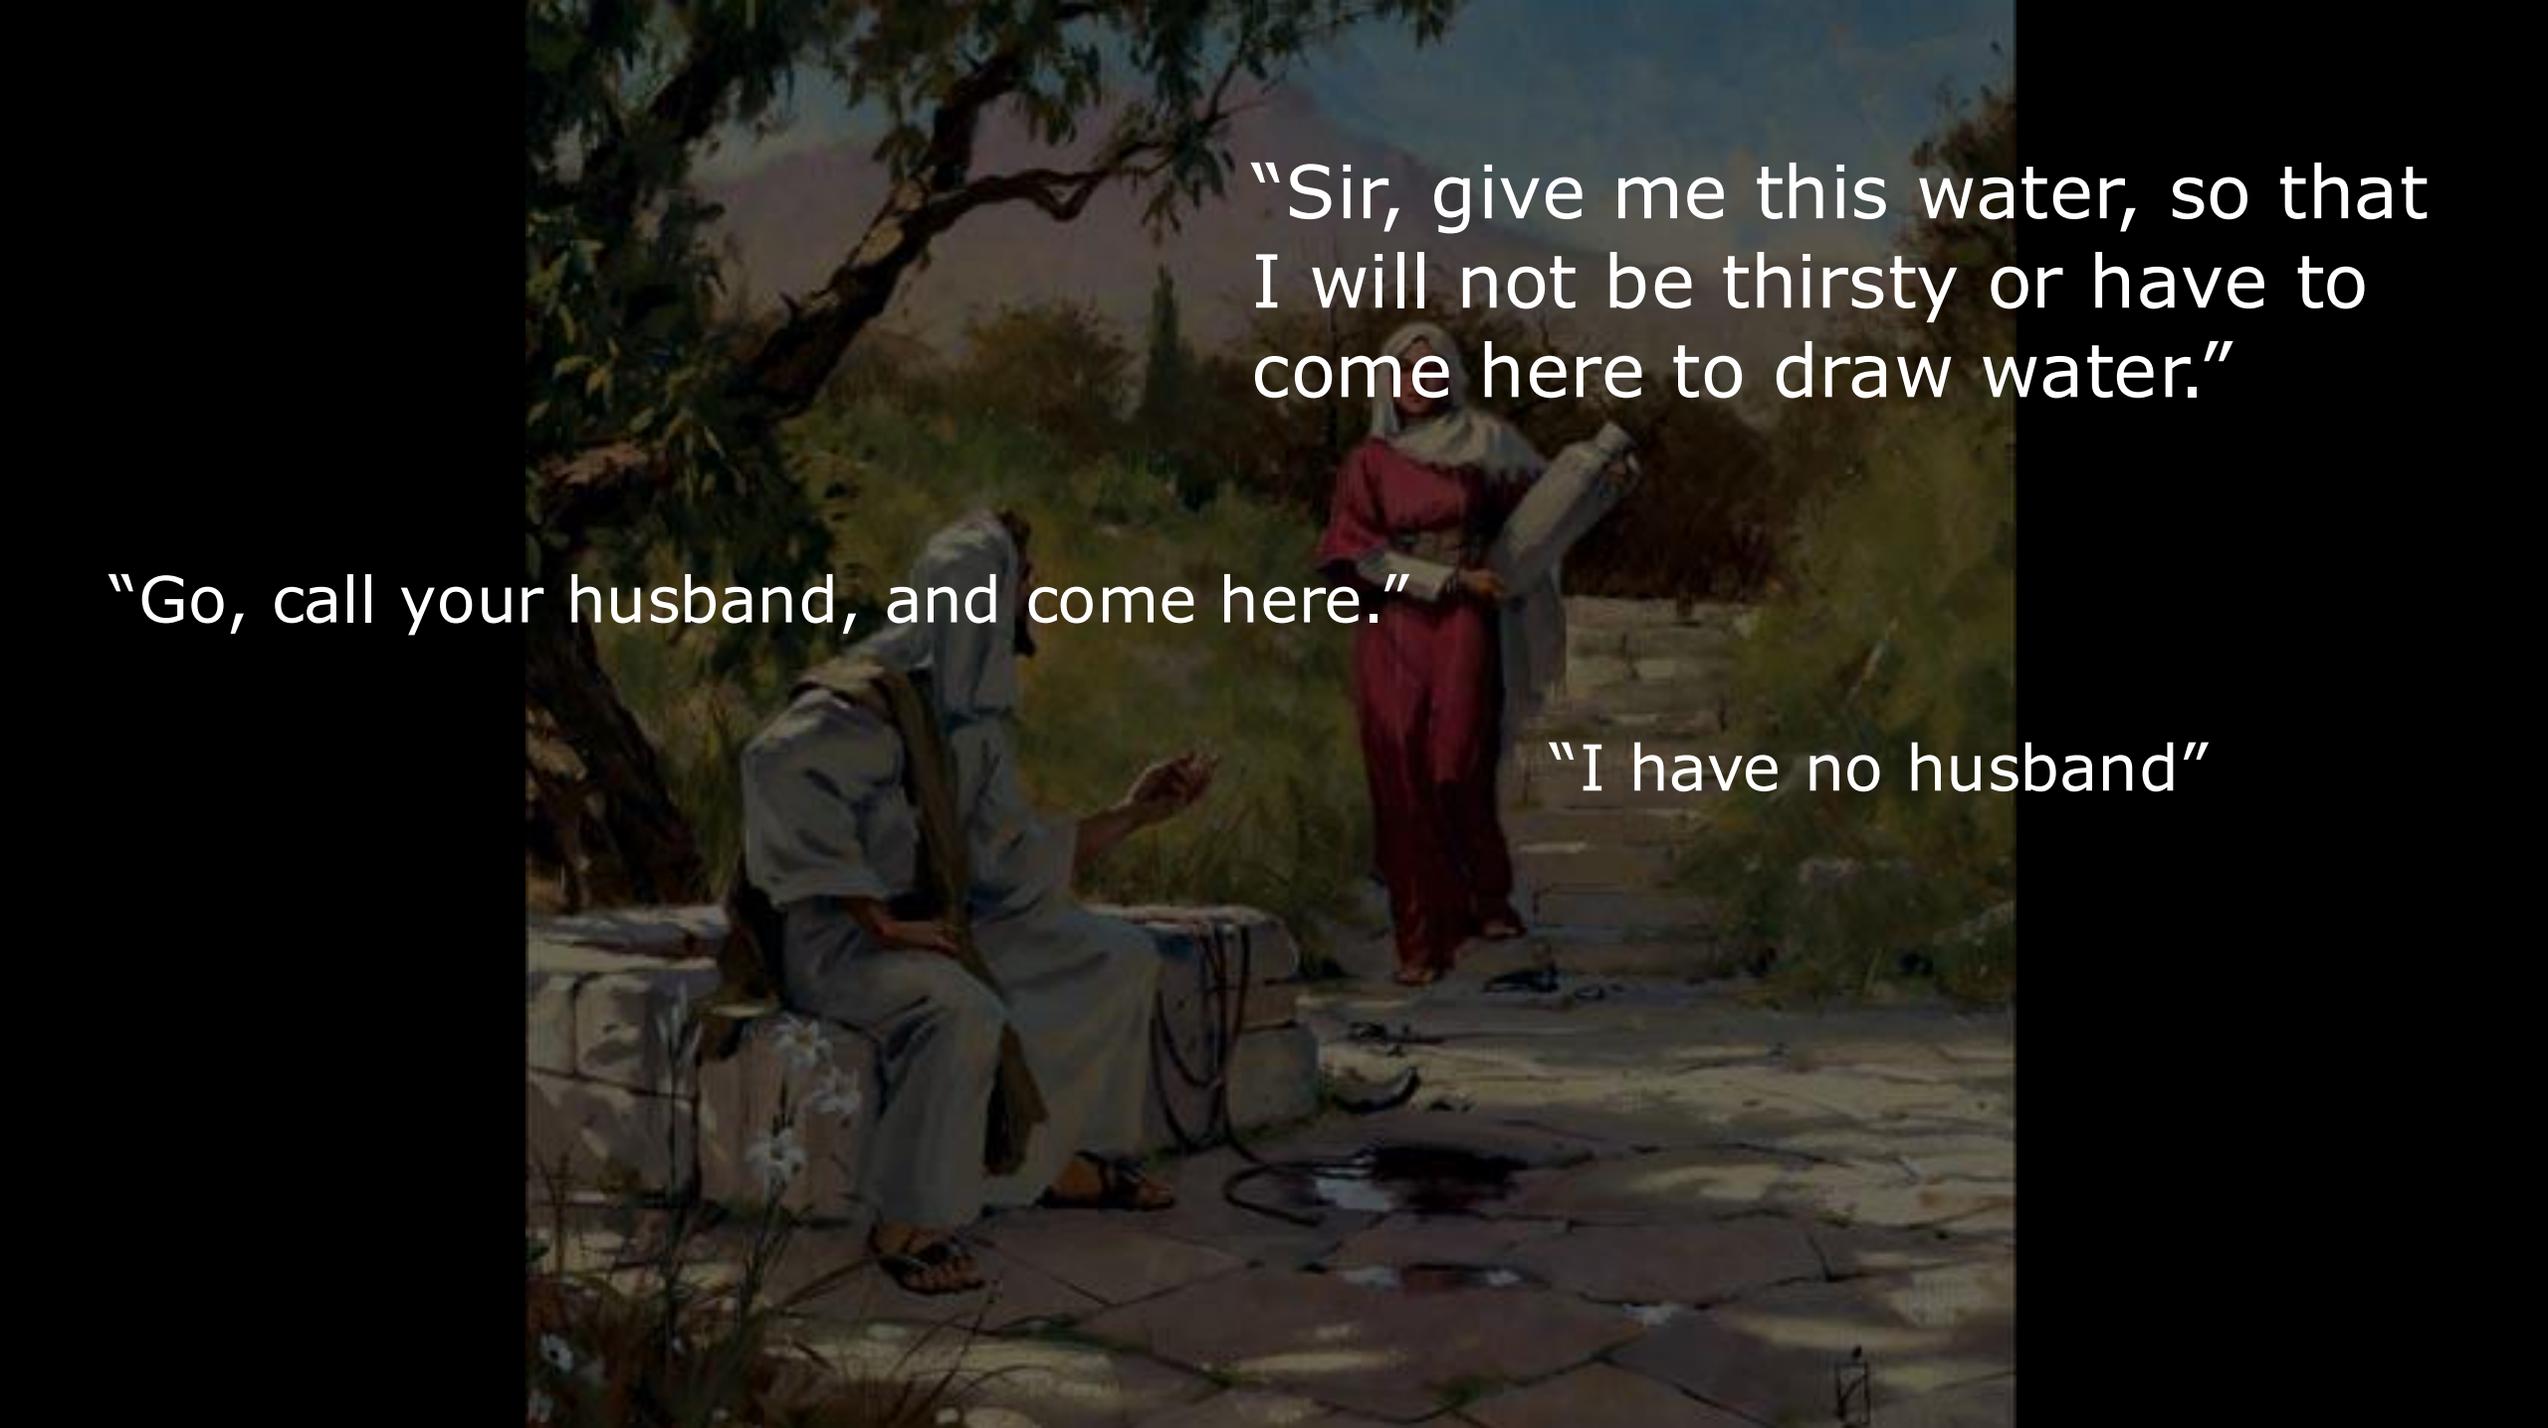

“Sir, give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water.”

“Sir, give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water.”

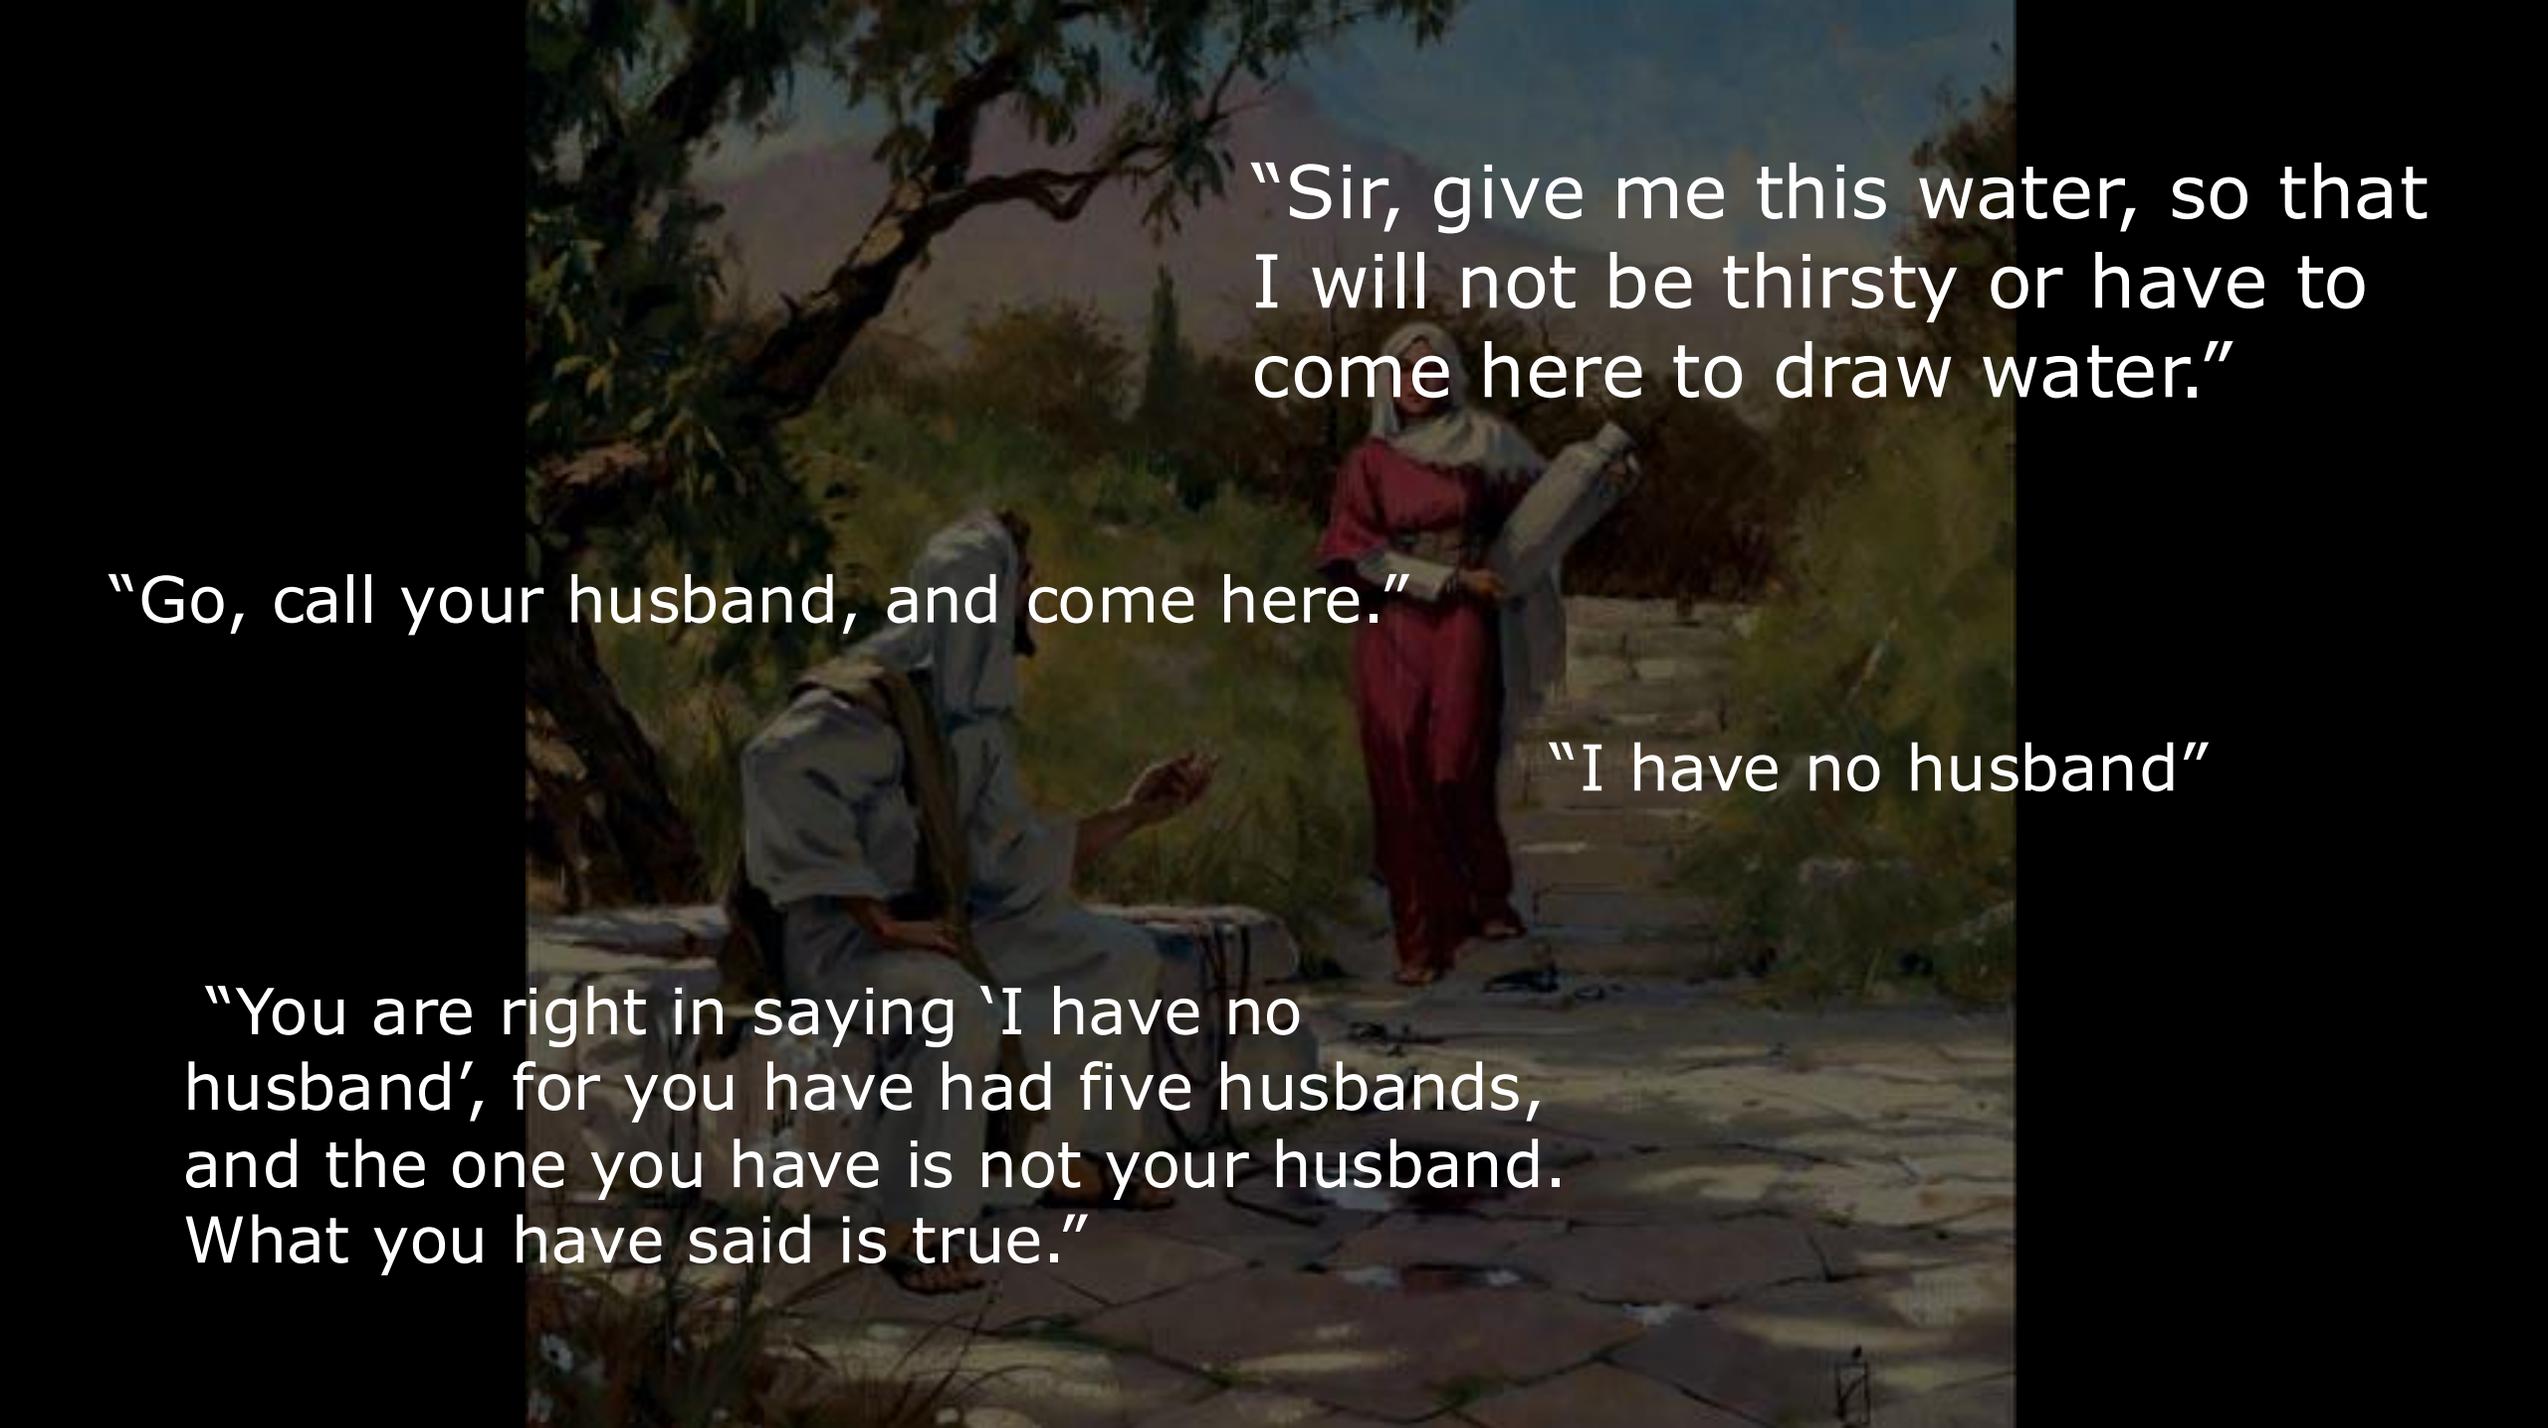

“Go, call your husband, and come here.”

“Sir, give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water.”

“Go, call your husband, and come here.”

“I have no husband”

“Sir, give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water.”

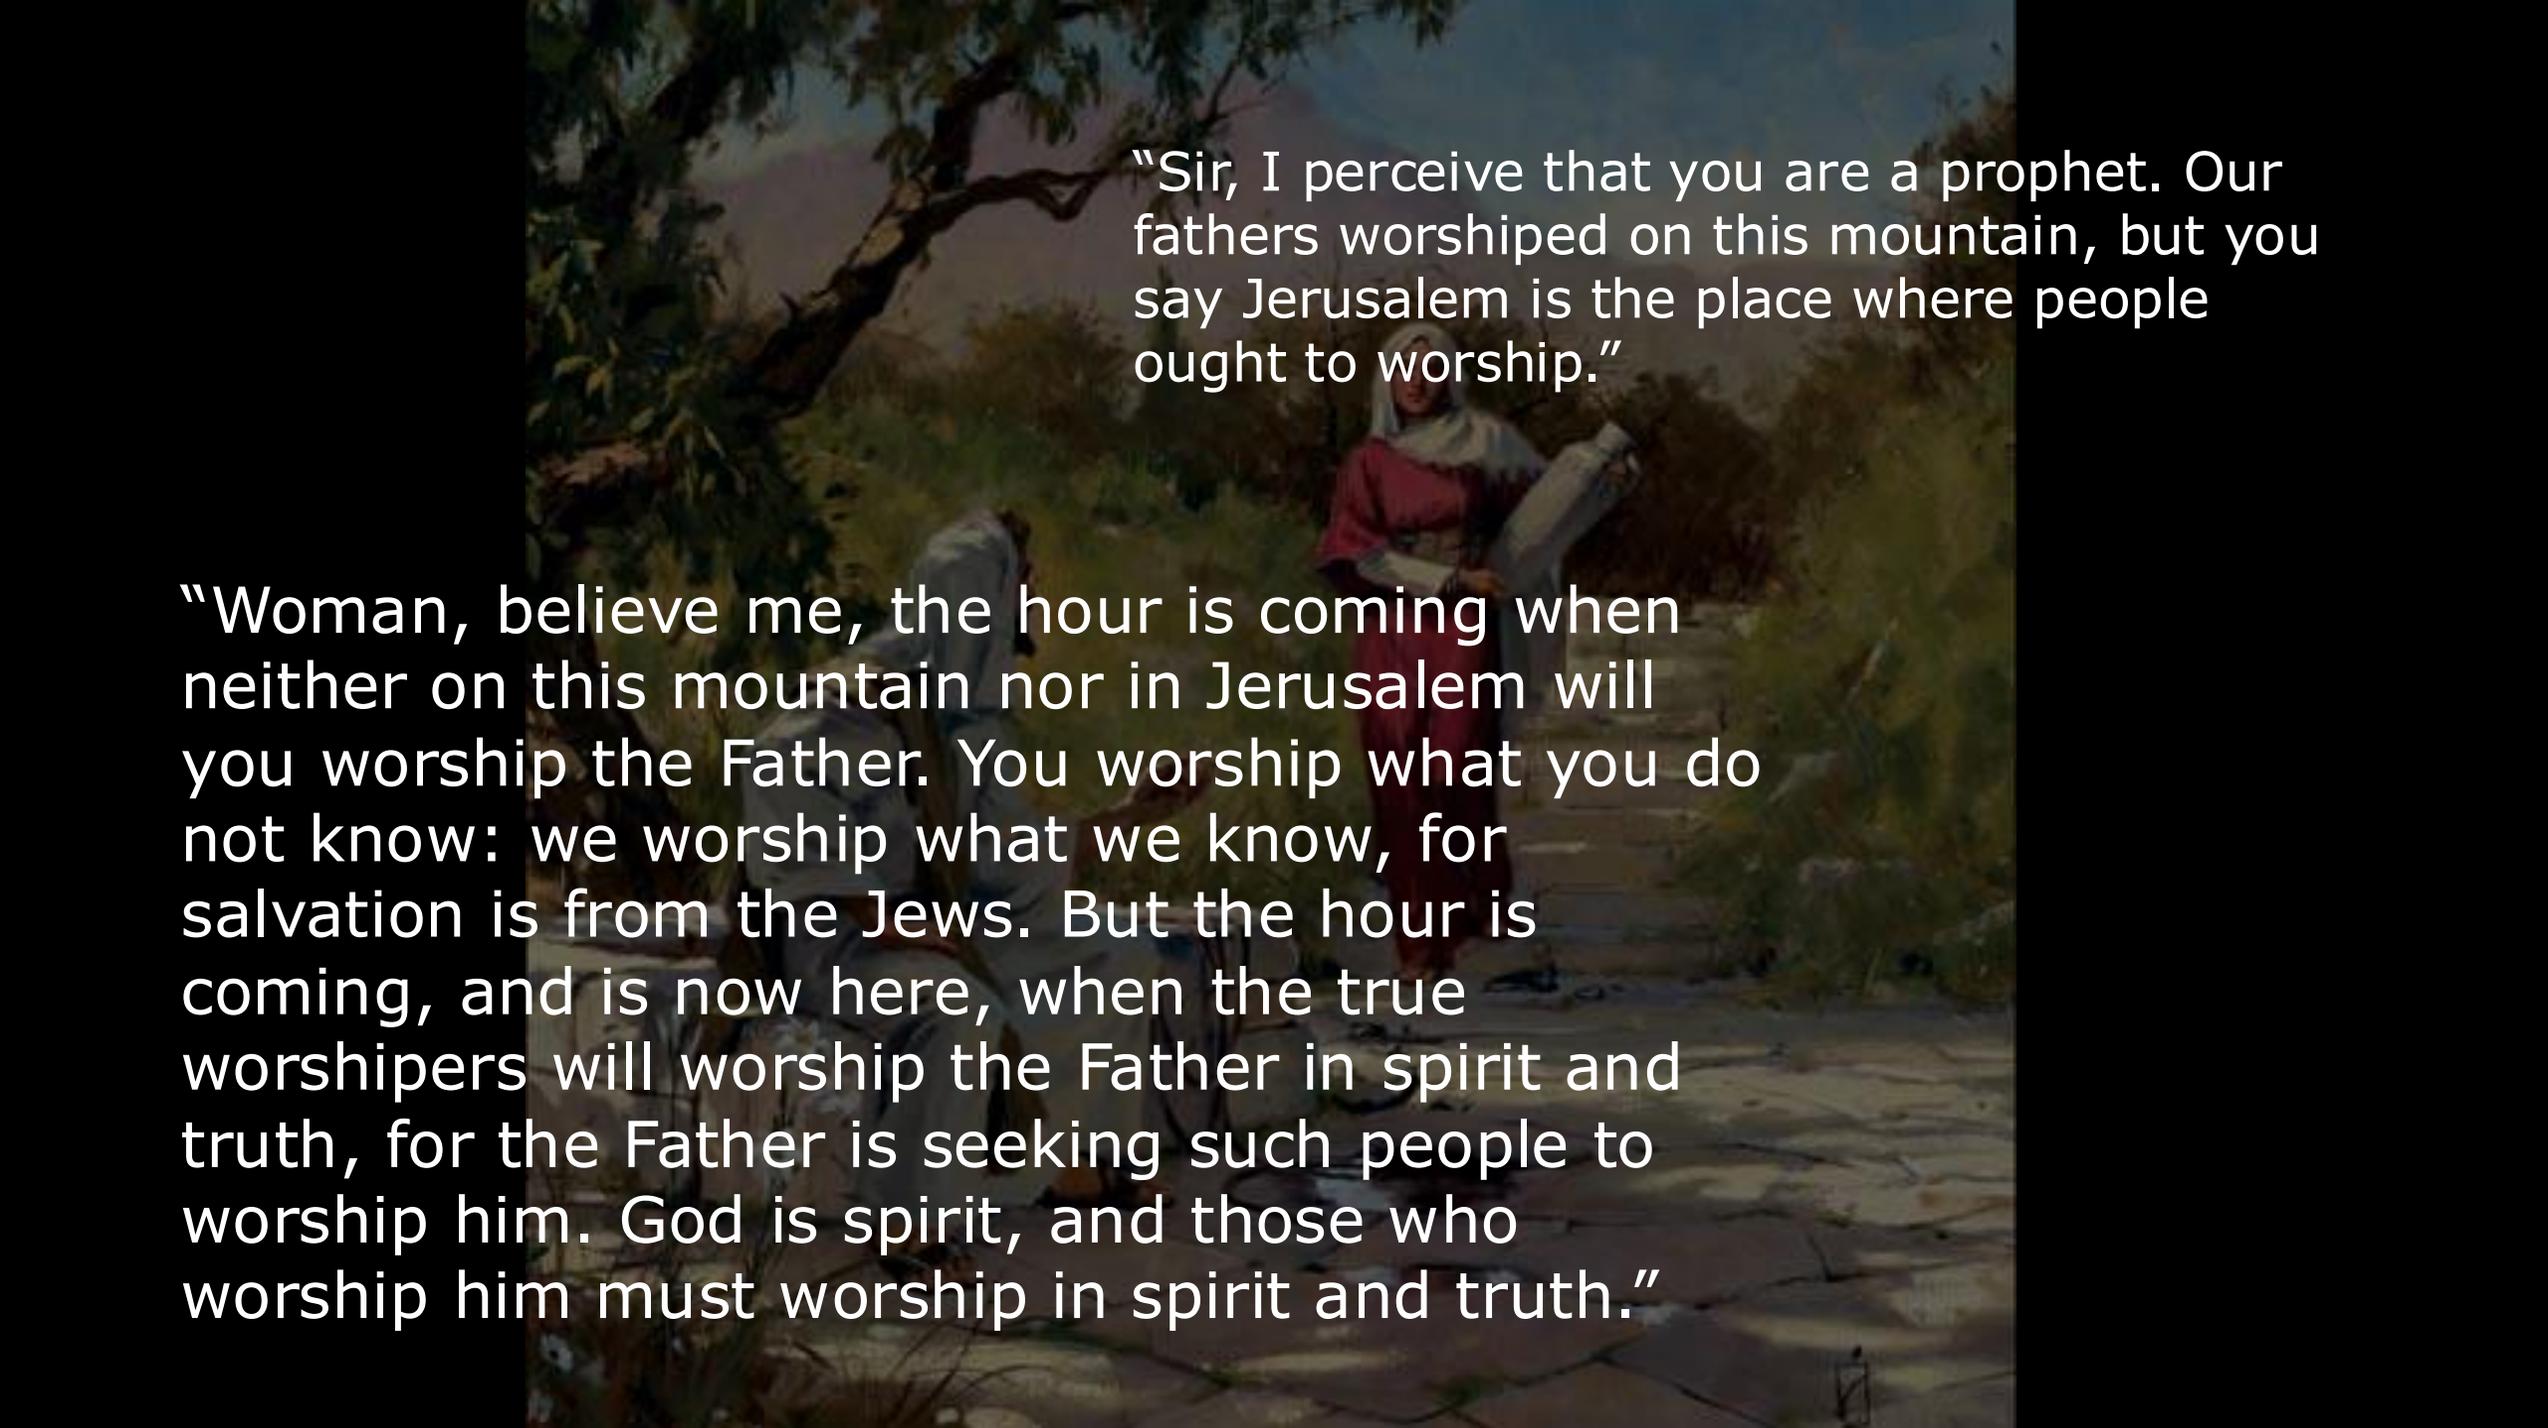

“Go, call your husband, and come here.”

“I have no husband”

“You are right in saying ‘I have no husband’, for you have had five husbands, and the one you have is not your husband. What you have said is true.”

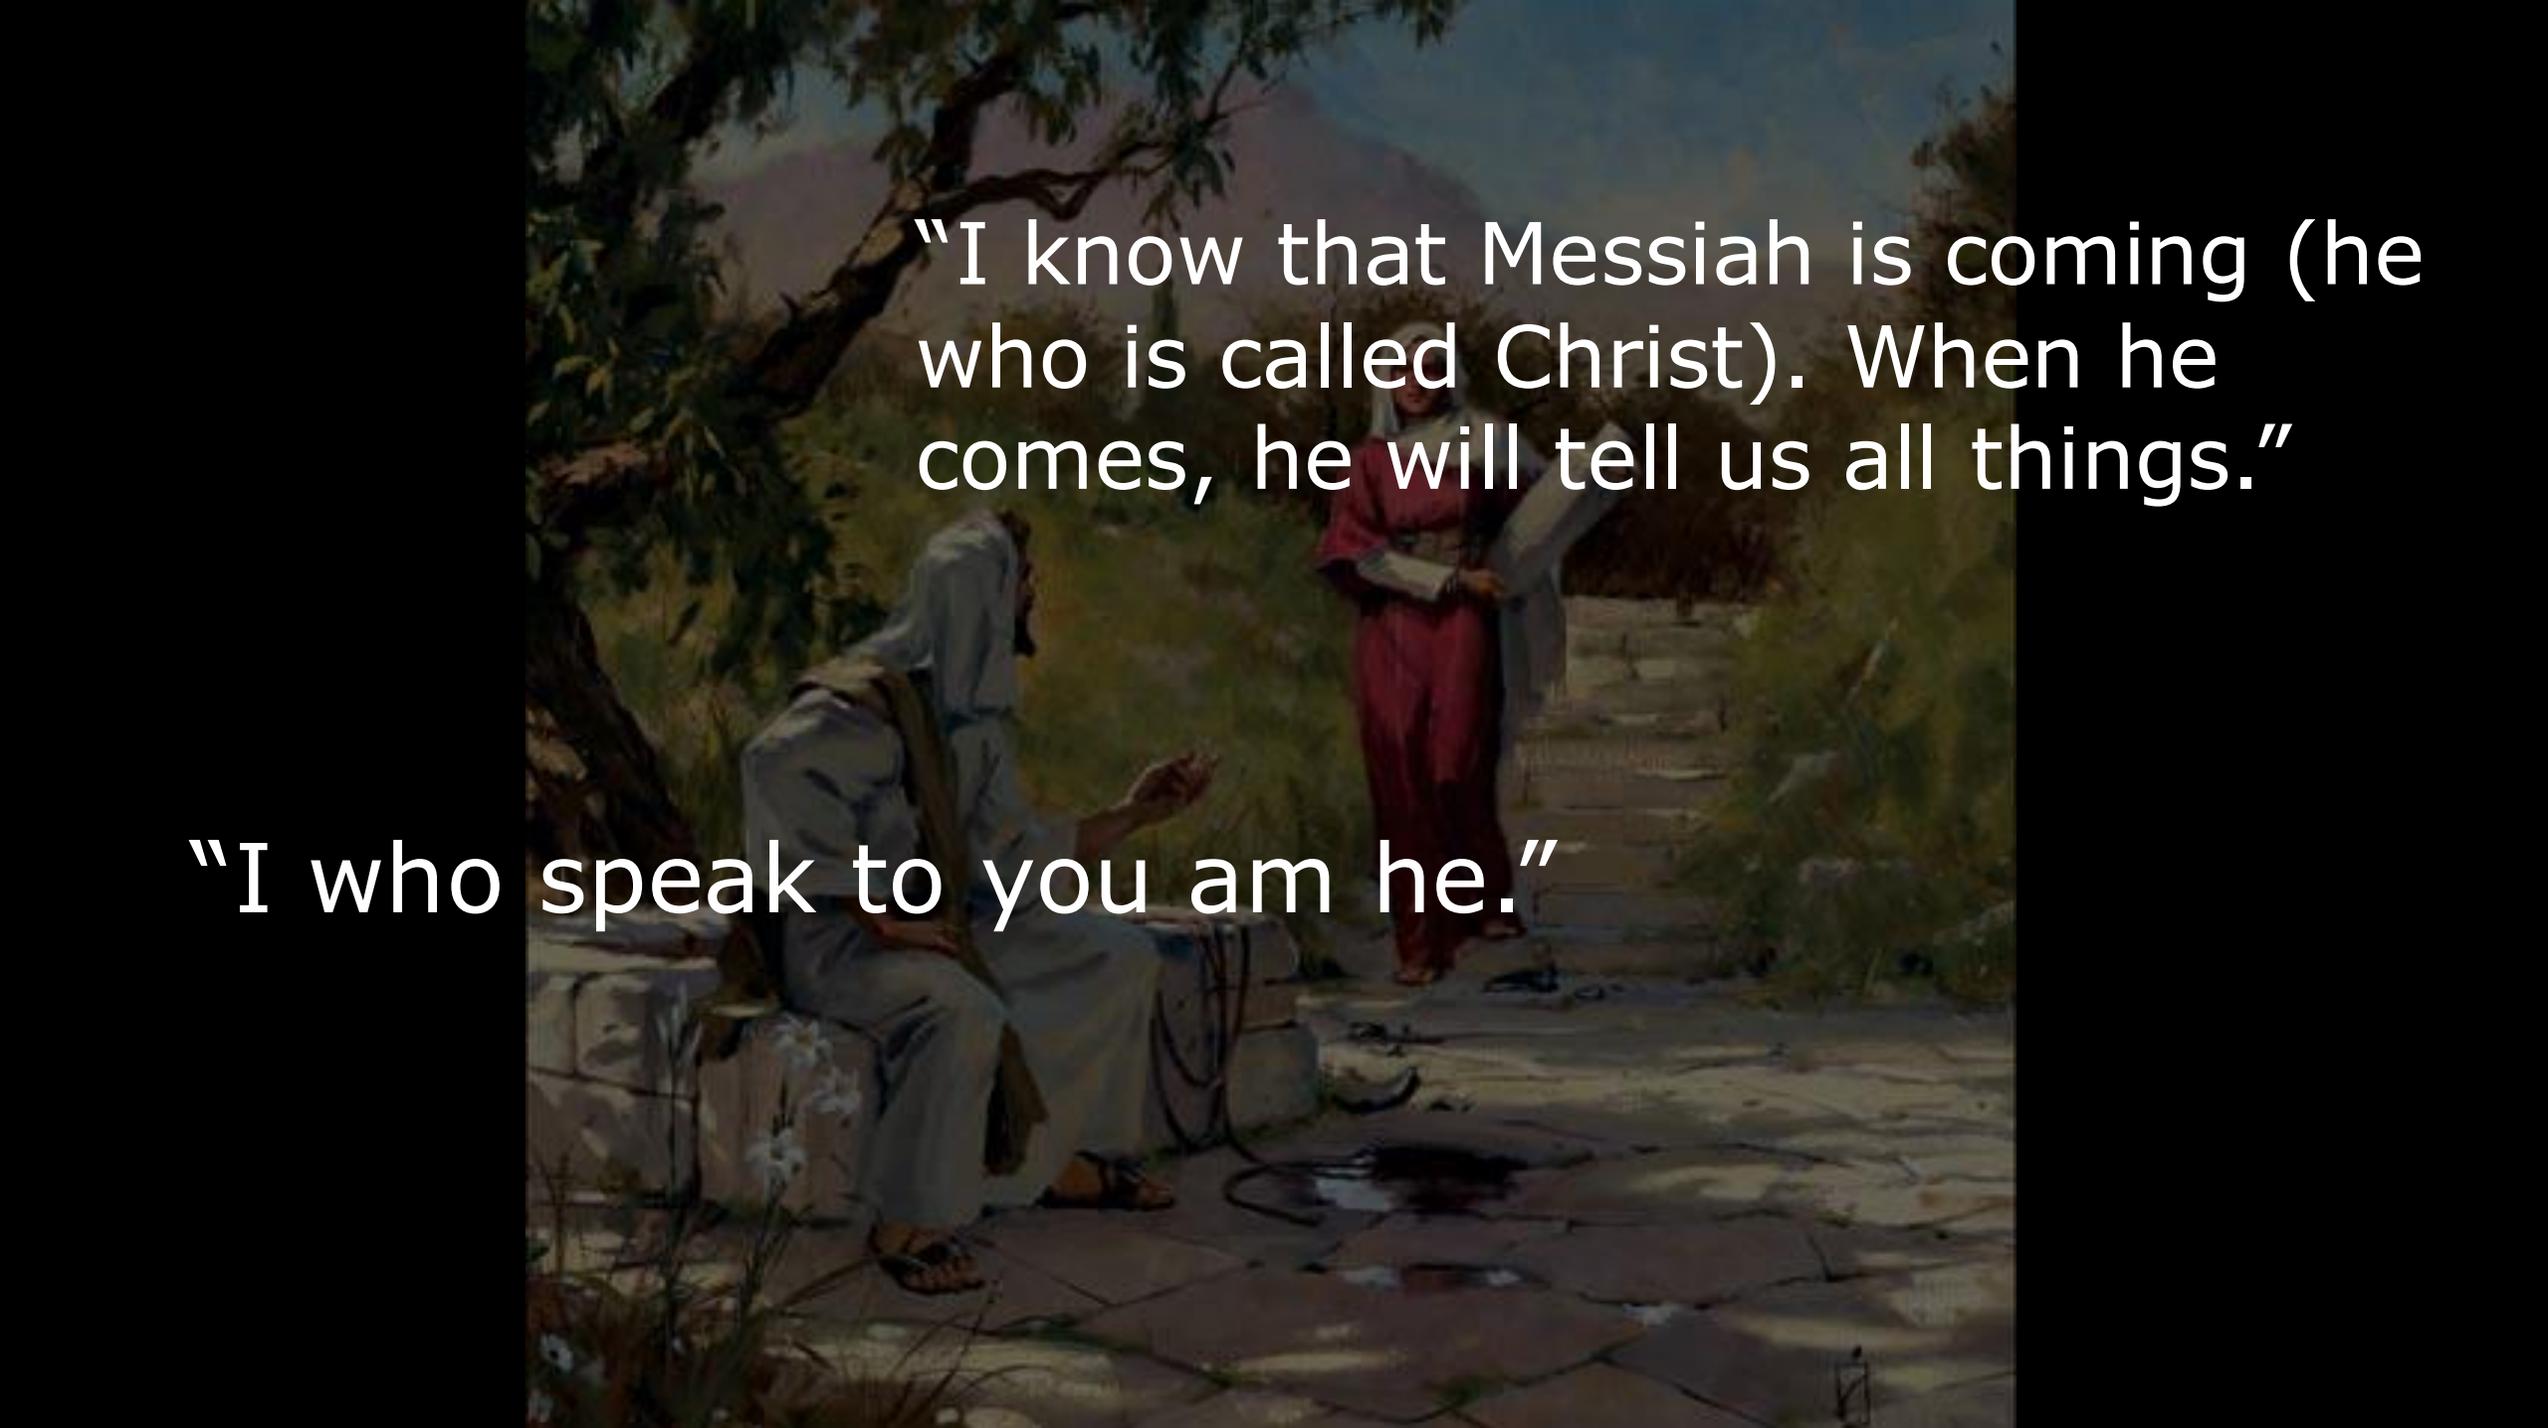

“Sir, give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water.”

A woman wearing a red and white headscarf and a red dress is speaking to a man in a white headscarf. They are standing on a stone path on a mountain. The background shows a large tree and a clear sky.

“Sir, I perceive that you are a prophet. Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, but you say Jerusalem is the place where people ought to worship.”

“Woman, believe me, the hour is coming when neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father. You worship what you do not know: we worship what we know, for salvation is from the Jews. But the hour is coming, and is now here, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth, for the Father is seeking such people to worship him. God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth.”

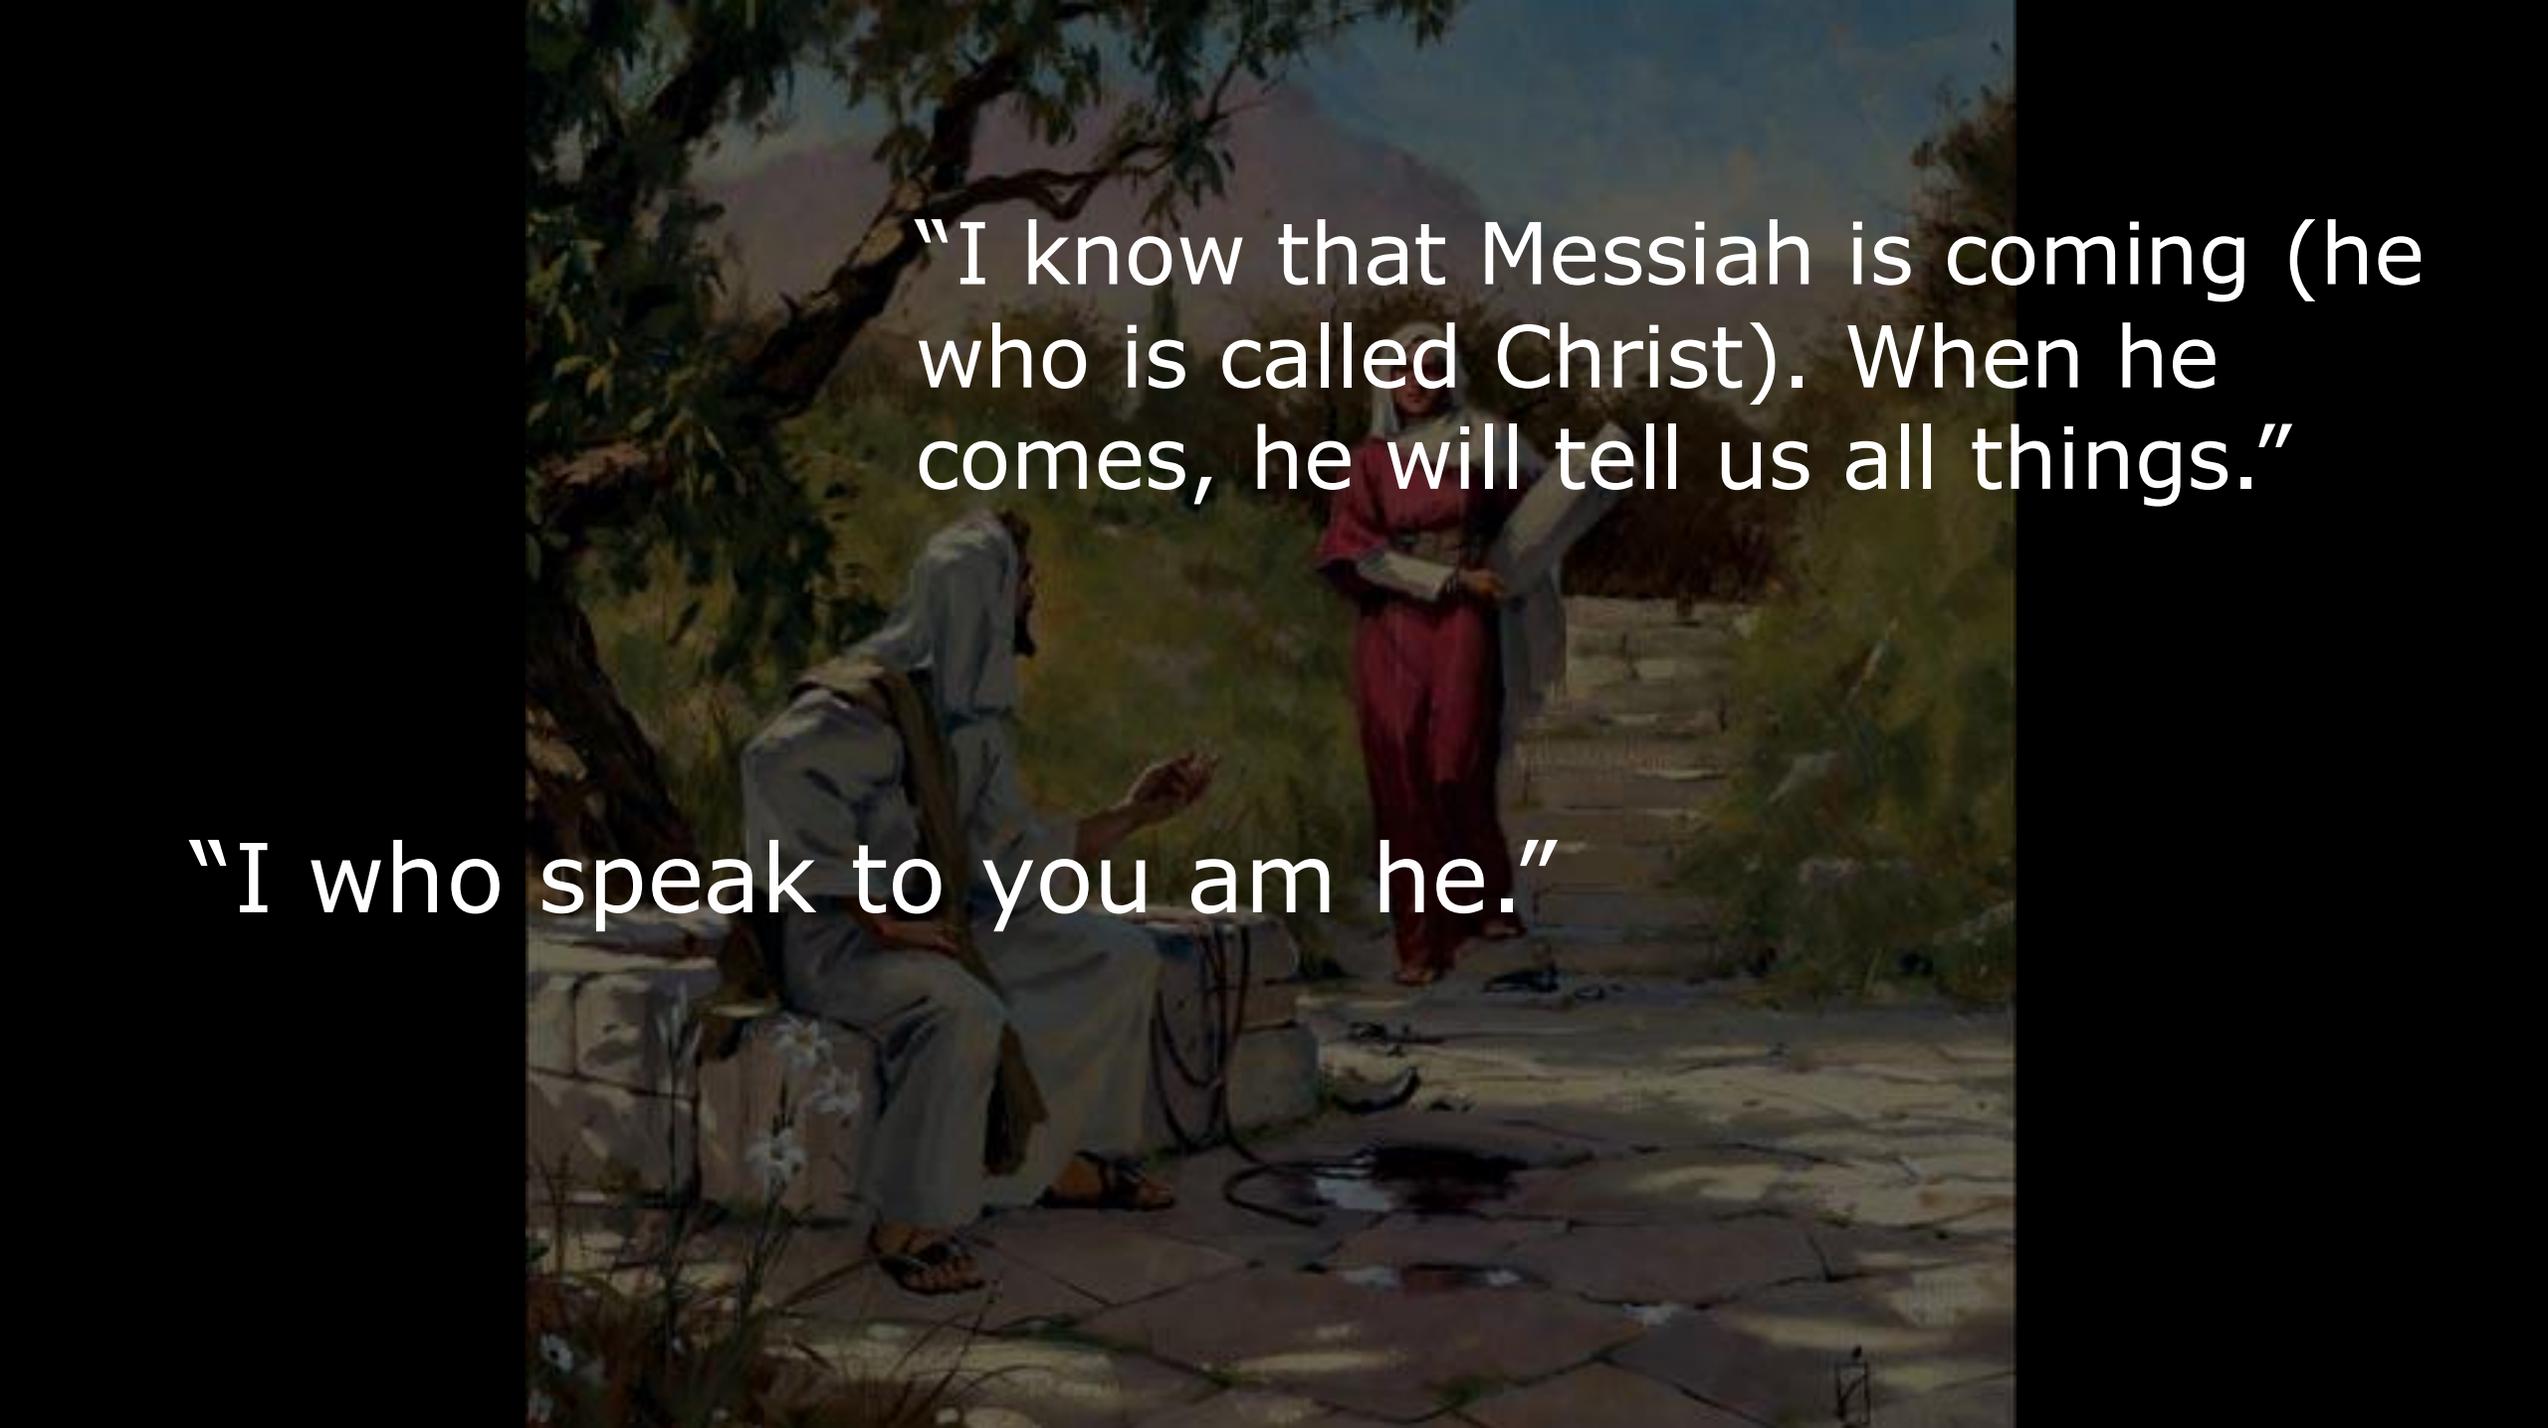

“I know that Messiah is coming (he who is called Christ). When he comes, he will tell us all things.”

“I who speak to you am he.”

“Come, see a man who told me all that I ever did.
Can this be the Christ?”

“I know that Messiah is coming (he who is called Christ). When he comes, he will tell us all things.”

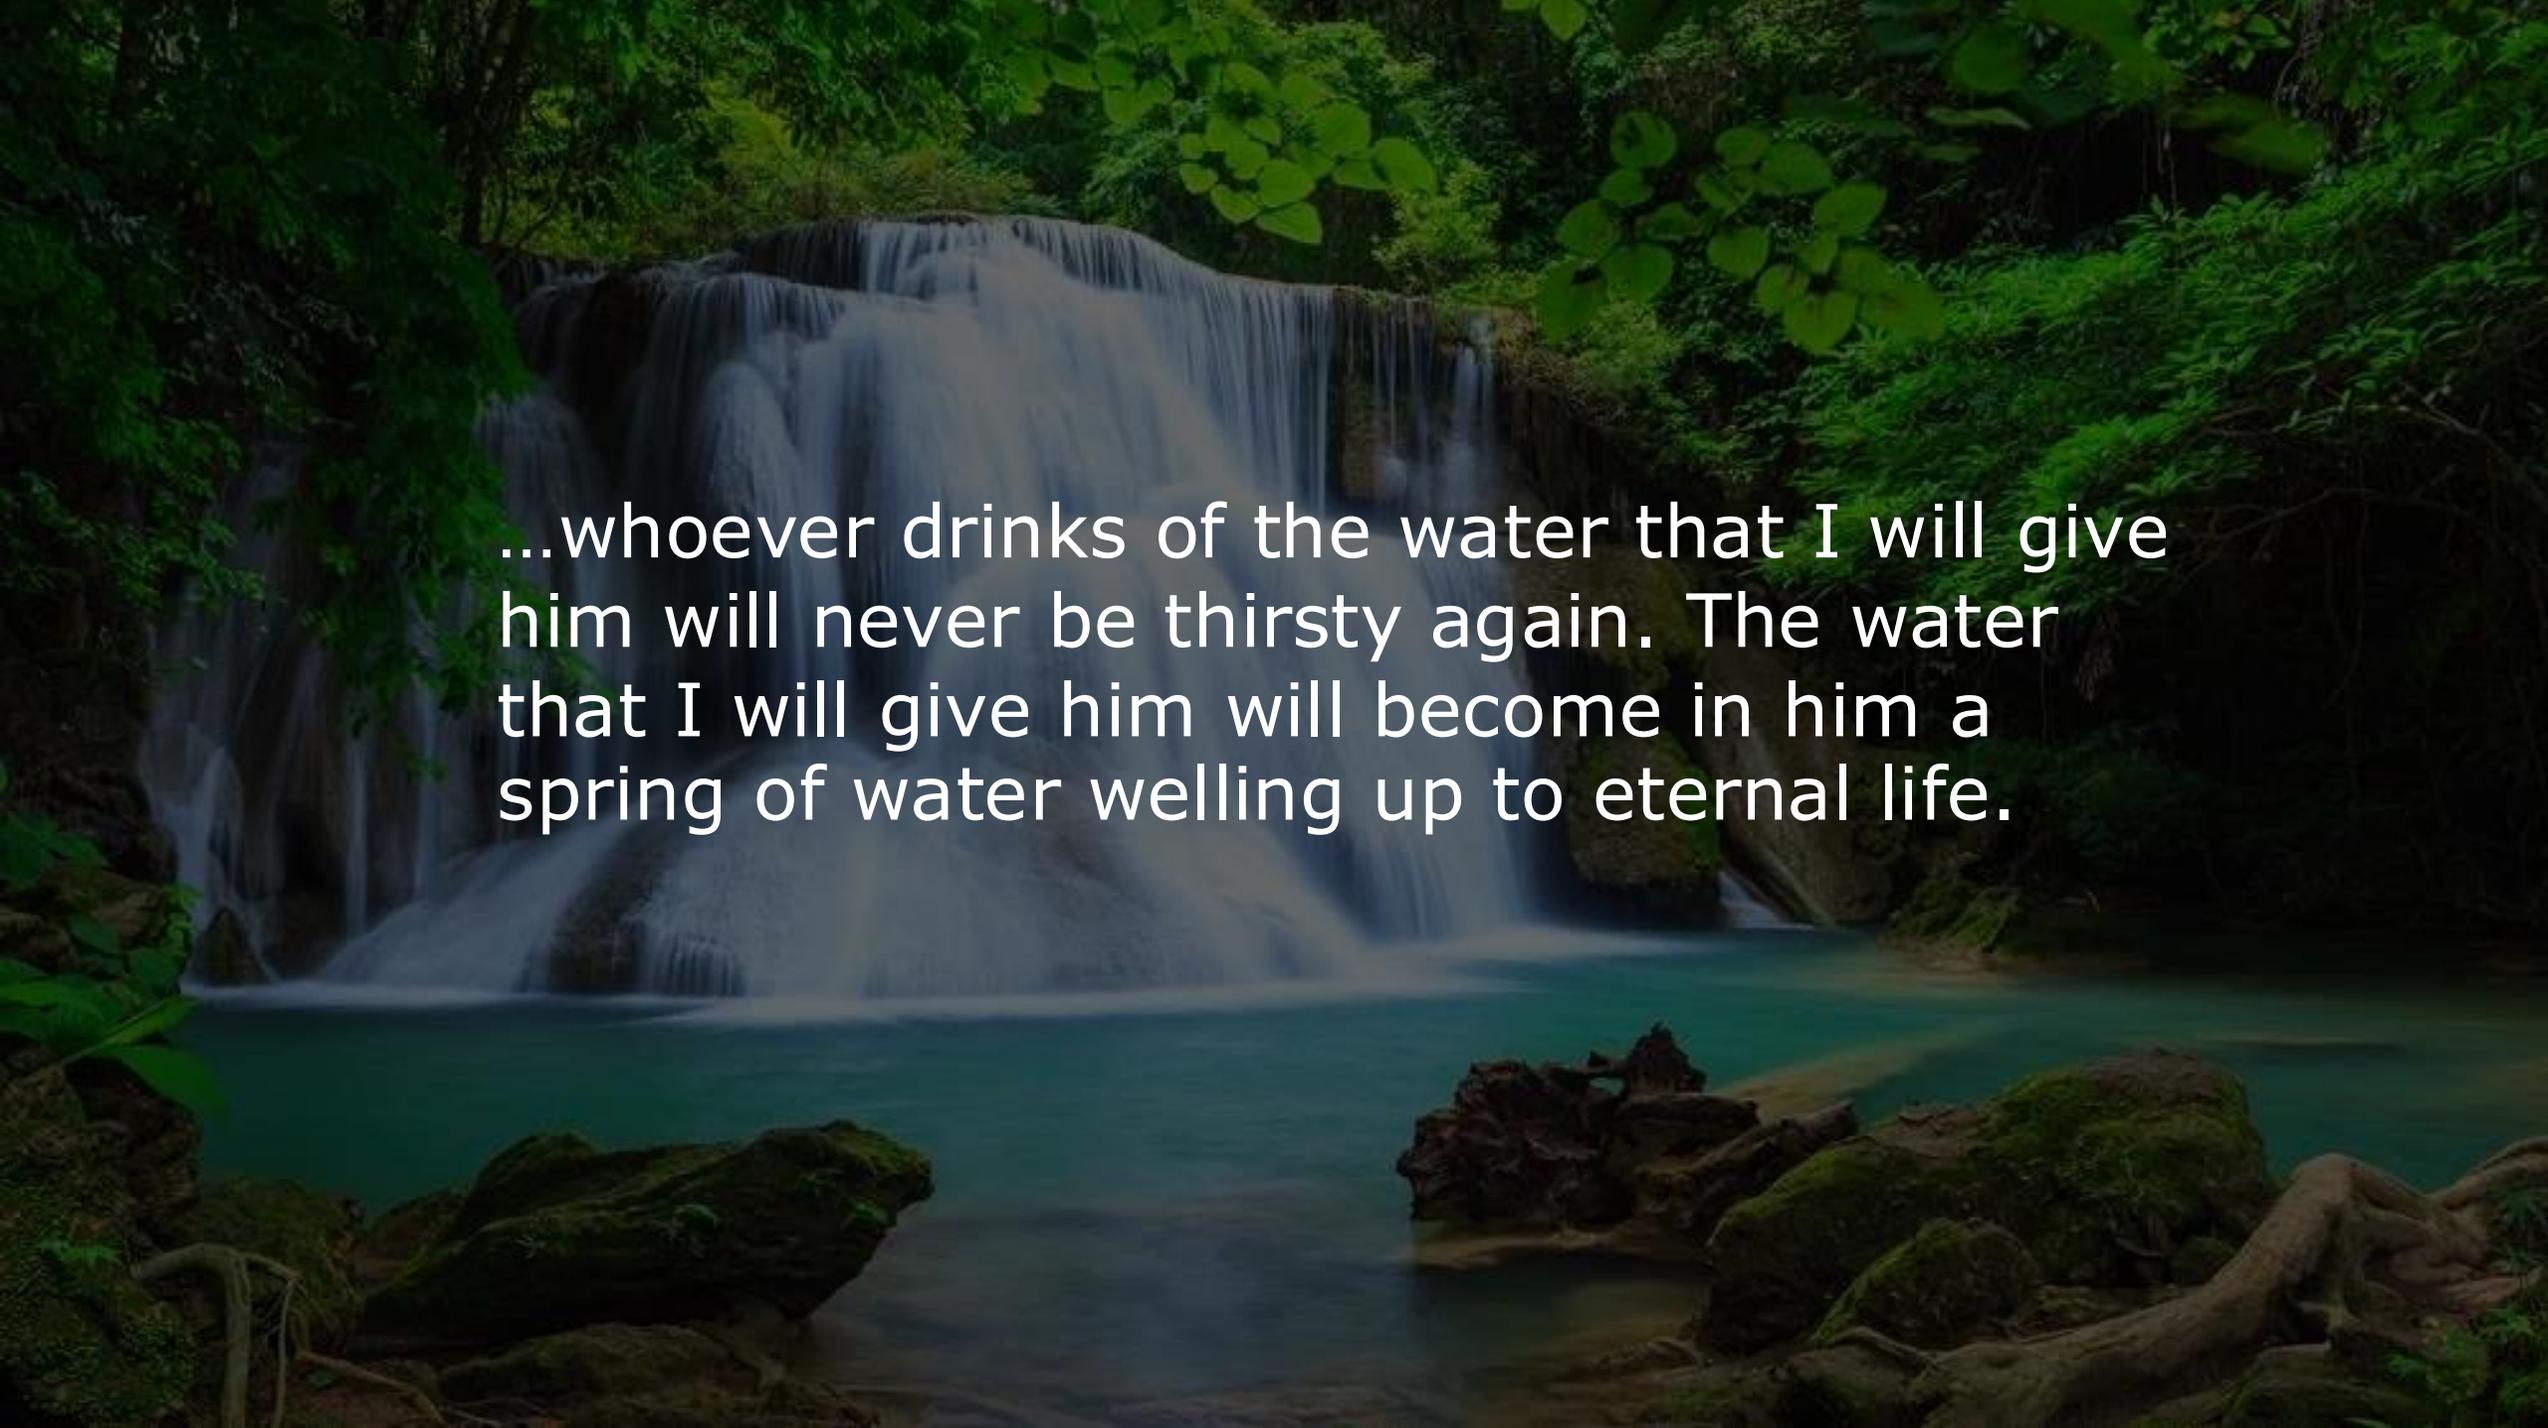

“I who speak to you am he.”

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life.

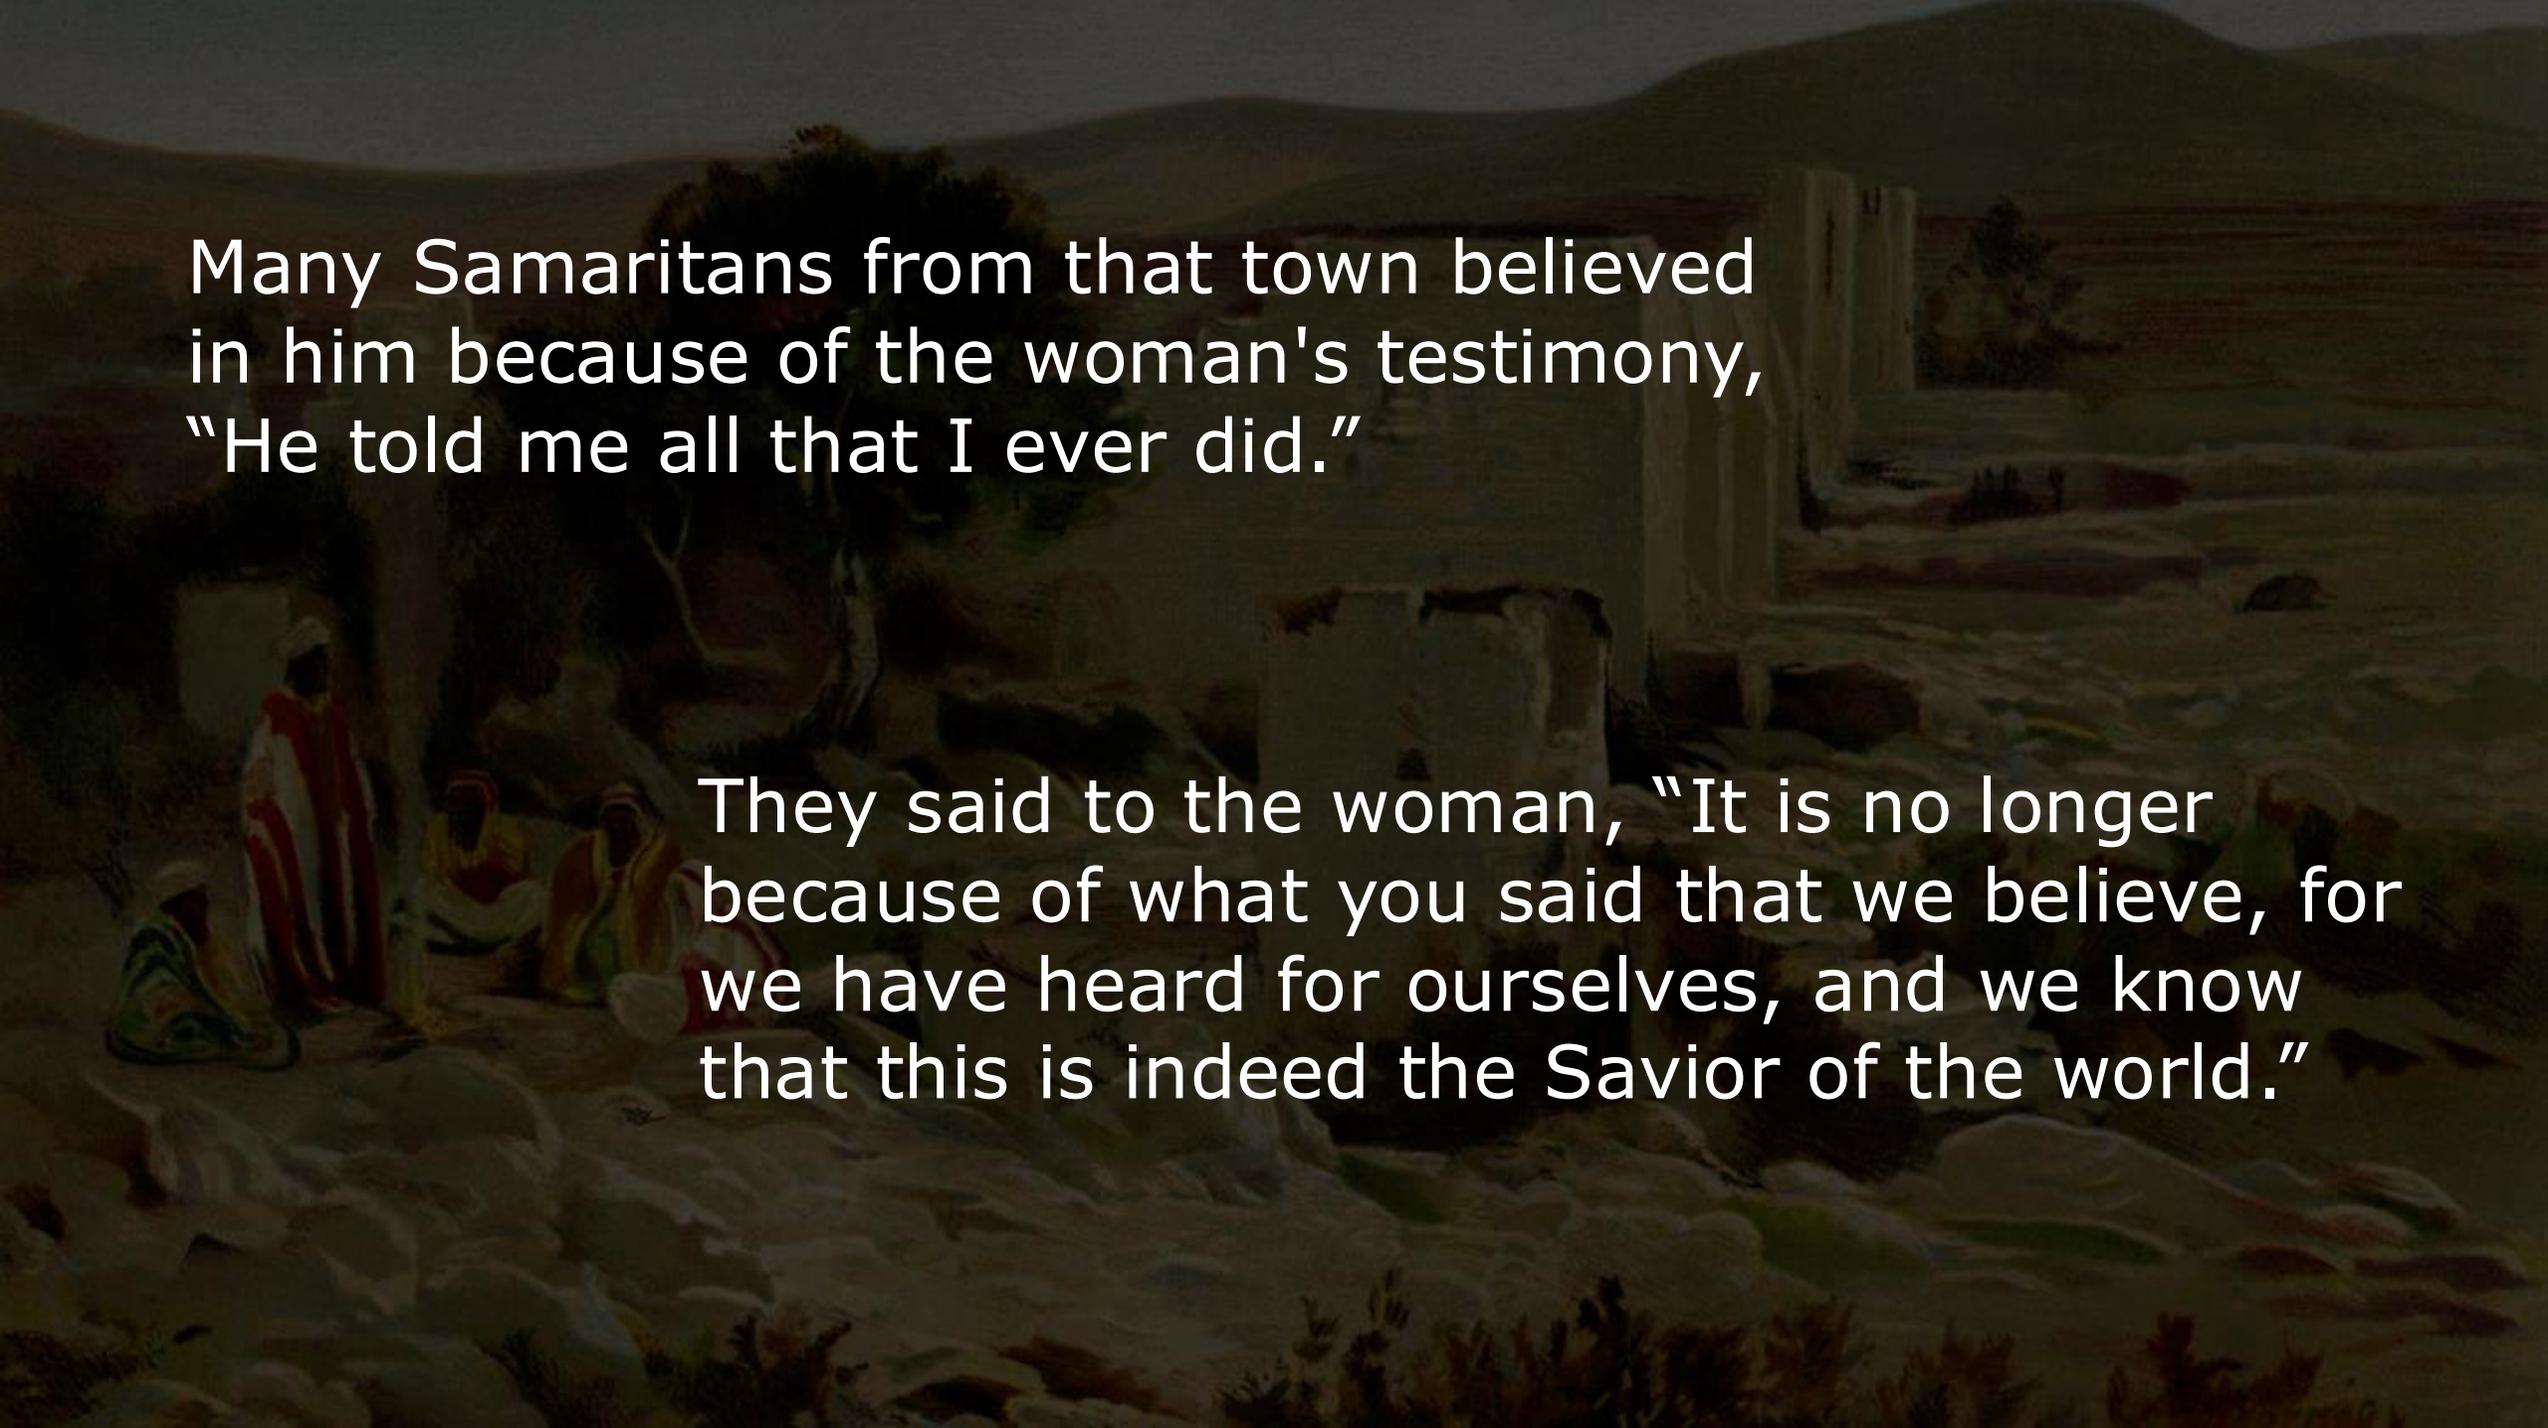

A long-exposure photograph of a waterfall in a dense, green forest. The water is blurred, creating a soft, ethereal effect as it falls into a pool. The surrounding foliage is vibrant and lush, with various shades of green. In the foreground, there are large, moss-covered rocks and tree roots. The overall atmosphere is serene and natural.

...whoever drinks of the water that I will give him will never be thirsty again. The water that I will give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life.

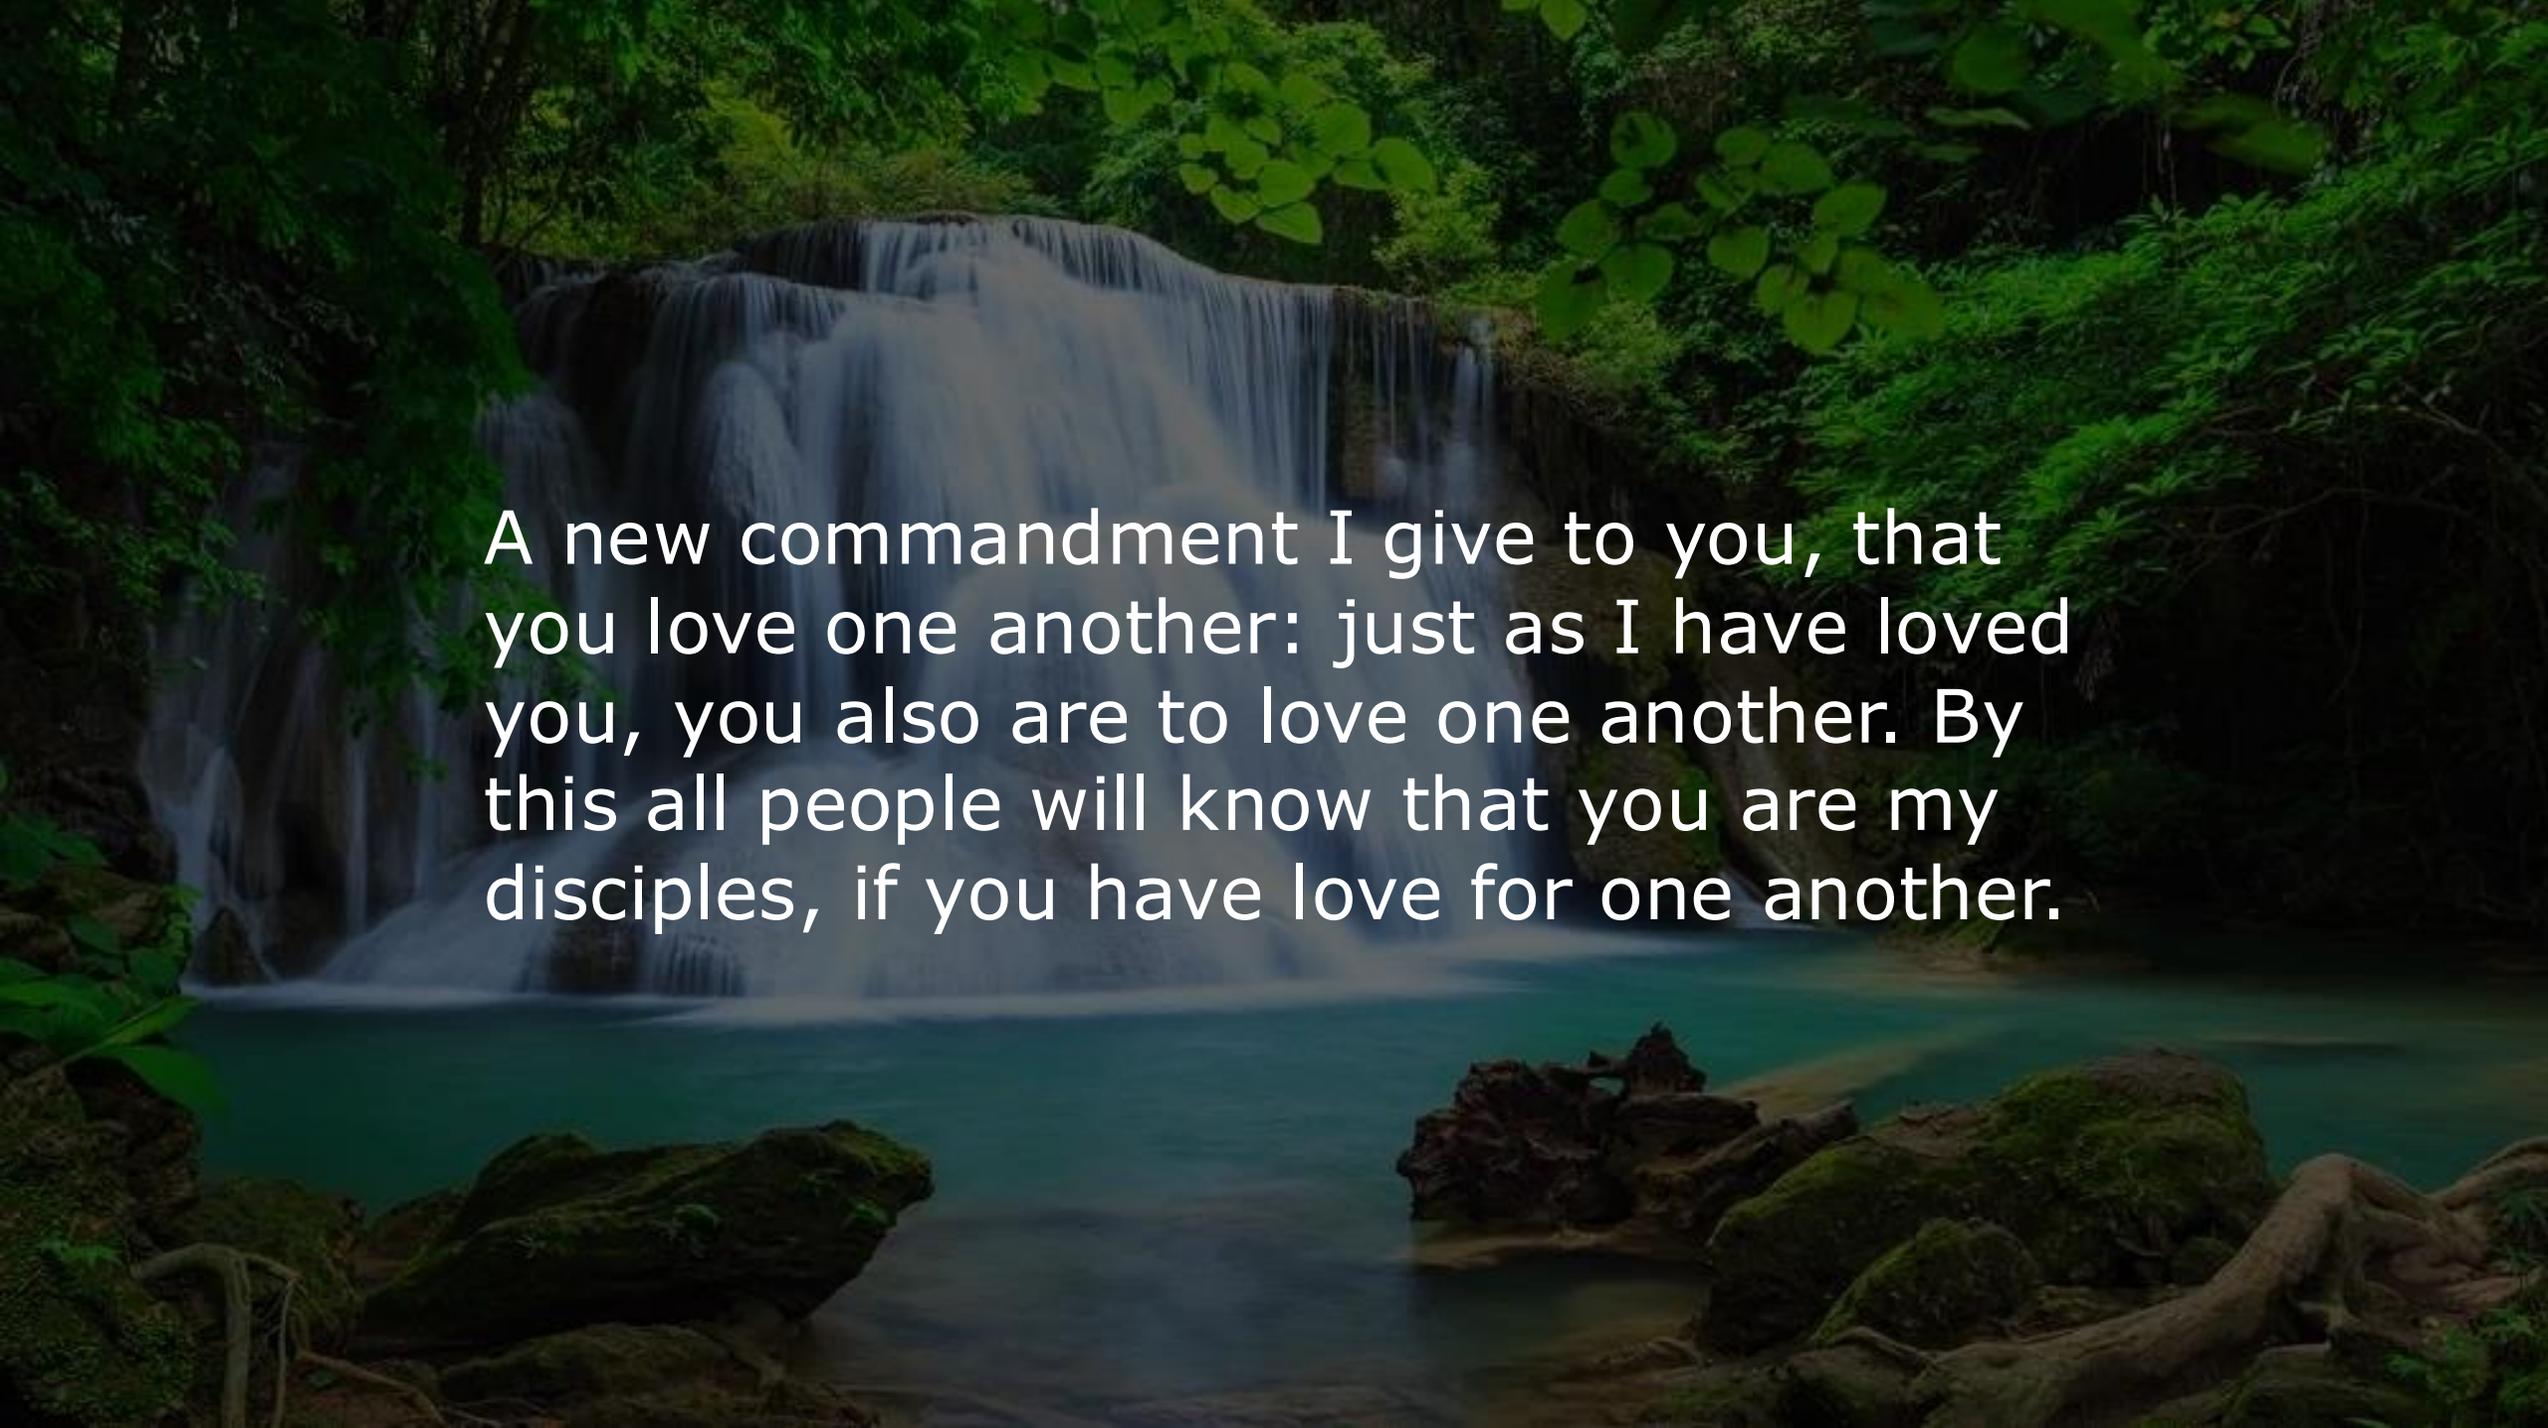

A dark, atmospheric illustration of a desert town. In the foreground, several people in traditional, colorful robes are gathered. The background shows stone buildings and a hazy, mountainous landscape under a dim sky. The overall tone is somber and historical.

Many Samaritans from that town believed in him because of the woman's testimony, "He told me all that I ever did."

They said to the woman, "It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, for we have heard for ourselves, and we know that this is indeed the Savior of the world."

A serene landscape featuring a waterfall cascading into a pool of water. The scene is surrounded by dense, vibrant green foliage and trees. In the foreground, there are large, moss-covered rocks and fallen tree trunks. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and natural.

A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another: just as I have loved you, you also are to love one another. By this all people will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another.

